STATE BREVITIES.

ERIE is troubled with burglars.

THE glory of Modoc City has departed.

HUNTINGDON amuses itself with seances.

OIL CITY enjoyed its first snowstorm of the season.

A YOUNG man named Gage, residing near Brockwayville, Jefferson county, fell upon a pitchfork the other day and received fatal injuries.

THE duck shooting at Conneaut Lake does not promise well this fall, the feeding grounds having been destroyed by the lowering of the lake.

THE girl who created so much excitement in Franklin last summer, by stating that she was kidnapped from Pittsburgh, has appeared in Oil City.

THERE was a fire at the Oil City Barrel works on Thursday that resulted in a loss of $10,000. At one time it was feared the whole establishment and a part of the town would be destroyed.

HUGH MATTHEWS struck his son-in-law, John Opperman, on the head with a stone at Phœnixville last Wednesday, and killed him. The affair grew out of a fight between the mother and her daughter.

DR. JOHN TODD succeeded yesterday in removing a needle from the lower part of Henry Zuber's tongue, where it had been imbedded for nearly a month. The needle measured an inch and a half, and had been swallowed by Mr. Z. while partaking of his evening meal. For several days previous to its removal the gentleman was unable to swallow a morsel of food. He has now ease, and it is thought no bad results will follow.—Pottstown Cor.

A SHORT time since, a young lady, a resident of Brookville, experienced a creeping sensation in her nose after she had retired for the night, and all efforts to remove the annoyance was without the desired effect, the difficulty remaining for several days, merely changing to a location farther up in the nostril. At length it seemed to pass down into the throat, causing a choking sensation, and finally disappeared. Immediately after its disappearance the victim experienced acute pains in the stomach, and called medical assistance in vain, the only thing that gave any relief being copious doses of brandy, which failed to produce any of the usual effects. Finally severe vomiting ensued, and after one whole night's suffering, and the patient giving up hopes of life, the cause of the trouble was moved, and an examination found it to be a small particle of blood and matter, in the centre of which was a common sized black spider. Evidently the brandy saved the young lady's life.

The Latest Autumn Styles.

The Follies of Fashions—Tendency to High Prices in Everything—The Jet Insanity—The Shirring Mania—The Princess Overdress and Winter Cloaks—Fashions in Furs, &c.

Fashion is destitute of brains. I suppose there has never been any question about that; but certainly if there had, this season would set it at rest forever.

People have been poor for a year past. That is, many have who were formerly rich, or thought themselves so, and the rest have felt poor. A wise fashion under these circumstances would have appealed to the practical common sense of the public; it would have created marvels out of carmelite serge; it would have done wonders with homespun; it would have taught moral lessons through "soft" felt hats, and instead of adding feathers knocked them in on the crown, as men do to make them look jaunty, and sold them at the natural human prices.

But no; fashion could not do anything half so sensible. It has taken the beautiful woolens and gathered them, and pleated them and laid them over in huge folds and added heavy flounces and tabs and sashes, and charges $125 for a dress of them which is utterly ruined by the weight and clumsiness of the superfluous material.

All the softness and freedom and style of the fabric is lost. If I were a man and had invented such materials, or an artisan and had manufactured them, I could cry over the wicked waste, the lack of artistic sense, the utter failure to appreciate the possibilities that are thus abominably slighted or destroyed.

Thirty-five dollars should purchase as handsome a cheviot or serge suit as a woman need to wear; $45 should buy a costume of silk and wool, allowing $20 in one case and $30 in another for fabrics, and $15 (which ought to be enough) for making, thread, lining, or what are known as dressmakers' trimmings. But try to purchase a suit or costume ready-made, and it will cost from $75 to $125. And a fashionable dressmaker will run it up to the same sum. In the same way a soft felt hat which costs from $1.10 to $1.25, and the beauty of which is its simplicity, its readiness, its flexibility and its adaptableness, is brought up in the hands of the milliner to $16, by a long plume or even by two or three worthless little feather tips, a Brummagen buckle, a flaring bow, a twist of velvet and a binding.

Now here was something that might have gladdened the hearts of thousands of women—for all, rich and poor alike, want that for ordinary wear—low priced, of a material like that of men, which cannot be spoiled by rain, and may be finished in a plain, inexpensive way, with a binding and wing of a game bird perhaps, or a band and bow, something that would not largely increase the cost, and, allowing a dollar for the slight labor of putting it on, would still give us just what is needed at a sum of from three to five dollars.

London milliners advertise their "guinea" bonnets as a specialty. If some New York milliner had wit enough to advertise "a five dollar" hat for ladies, and had judgment and taste enough to give it a look of style and simple elegance, she would make a fortune.

The manufacturers have done everything but trim ladies' hats. They furnish straw, and felt, and beaver, and even a patent velvet, but they will have to "finish" everyday hats for women, as they do for men and children, before they will find the desideratum required.

The Jet Insanity

seems to exist more on the part of the shop keepers than their lady patrons. It is astonishing to what an extent jet and beaded trimmings have been manufactured and the prices that are asked for them. The mania is one that must be short-lived because it makes dress so conspicuous, and to put the fashionable amount upon a costume for day or evening wear would be to invest in it the cost of a small house.

Jetted aprons are $75 each; beaded jackets from $50 to $125; neckties, beaded, $4.50; collars composed wholly of jet beads on wire, $15. Belts are $15, with leaf-like pendants composed of small cut beads massed together. Buckles made in the same way are $2.50 to $50, and a passementerie bordering composed of leaves of fine cut jet or a jetted fringe with net-work headings, are either of them $10 to $15 per yard.

The poorest trimmings into which jet is introduced have doubled in price, although the most of them have no real or intrinsic value, and drop off little by little on the street or in the house without any strain whatever being put upon them.

To see handsome silk or velvet vulgarized in this way—above all to see ladies actually paying to have their rich real lace spoiled by "beading"—is enough to make one conclude that women are bereft of sense where dress or fashion is concerned.

There are some, however, who have escaped the infection. "Do not mention beads to me," said one of the most elegant women in New York to her dress-maker recently, "or I shall look out for another modiste. I would not touch jet upon any consideration or be seen wearing a particle of it."

The same lady went to half a dozen of the large fur making houses in an attempt to find a plain stylish costume of silk and wool. Of course it was not to be had. She then bought the materials, took them to the person alluded to, and said: "If you put a side pleating, or a bunch of folds, a heap of gathers or any other abomination on this custume, I shall send it back upon your hands." These vigorous measures enabled her to secure a costume of black faille and velvet free from jet and a costume of silk and wool which is perfect in its way and a most agreeable contrast to the majority of the complicated and idiotic structures that cost twice as much and demand the strength of Hercules to carry about.

Seriously, the weight of clothing which the combination of heavy materials with beaded trimmings, and the enormous quantity of the fabric employed in "building" its different parts, is an evil which must be experienced to be fully realized.

Pale, delicate women walk the streets scarcely able to move their limbs under the burden of their trappings.

The Shirring Mania.

Old ladies who remember what were called the "drawn" silk bonnets and the way full sleeves and skirts were gauged at the tops thirty years ago, will understand what "shirring" means. It is simply gathering in rows, two or more, and this season dresses, suits and costumes are composed wholly of gatherings and fine side or (as they are called) knife pleatings—without any reference to material, its fitness or entire unsuitability to such a purpose.

There is a class of silks, soft, light and fine, which may be "shirred" with but slight fullness to advantage. But imagine quantities of side pleatings which require the length three times over, and rows of shirring drawn thick upon flounces, tablier (apron) sleeves, panier, bodice, wherever it is possible to put it, in velvet, in thick diagonal serge, camel's hair, cheviot, and even mateiassee silk and cloth. This is absolute waste of time, money and material.

The Jacket and Apron Overskirt.

The jacket and apron overskirt have almost superceded the polonaise; quite, indeed, except the polonaise which stimulates these, together with a sash or scarf back.

The new apron is cut broad, laid in three pleats upon each side, and meets at the back under the basque or under the folds of the skirt, a sash or cascade of beaded loops, terminating in wide ends, removing the appearance of plainness and giving the requisite finish to the ensemble of the costume. The most fashionable method of making the sash is to take three yards of the silk, double it together at the sides, and arrange it either as a sash starting from the waist or as a ladder of bows down the center of the back.

A more dressy method, for ceremonious dinner toilettes, is to trim the skirt rather high in front, leaving the train plain, and cut the apron and side sashes all in one, arranging these so as to form a flat trimming for the sides and apparently hold the back, its broad pleated train and pouf (if there is one), in position.

Whatever fullness there is in skirts, whether of day or evening dresses, is now all massed at the back and disposed of in a broad double or tripple box pleat. In a suit or demi-trained dress this will be plain and straight, but for grand toilettes the back breadths are cut from a quarter to half a yard longer than the others, and this fullness is gathered or pleated into the sides to assist in forming the pouf or panier, which surmounts the train end, to which a fanciful basque with bows or pockets, or both, add the crowning touch.

Flat bands of ostrich feathers in the tints of the silk are the favorite trimmings for these dresses, and by far the most effective, but they are too costly for ordinary use and wear. Neck and wrists are invariably finished with pleatings of tulle, added to which are ruffles of real valenciennes lace.

The Princess Over-Dress.

Perhaps the very latest thing in dressy toilettes is the Princess over-dress in the new striped silk and velvet, which together with a few rich brocades for trains or tabliers comprise the richest novelties of the season from Lyons manufacturers. Bodice and overskirt are cut in one, as the name indicates, the bodies square and cut down in a gradual slope, over the hips, perfectly plain, and straight in front, and at the sides, but very gracefully draped at the back and finished with a sash which invariably forms a cascade of bows.

The elegance of the toilette depends upon the harmony between the skirt, which is usually of plain gros grain, and the overdress, and also the taste with which the silk of which the skirt is composed and its trimmings are united upon the over dress. Five knife pleatings of white silk gauze or grenadine, puffings of lace or tulle, and deep silk fringes with netted headings, surmounted by flat bands of feathers, plain or beaded, are all used, but with the utmost art in order to conceal art.

Complete toilettes are also made of the velvet striped fabrics, the stripes showing different widths upon the skirt, the apron, and the basque. But these dresses have the merit of novelty only. They are offensively striking, not to say zebraish, in appearance.

New Winter Cloaks.

There is an effort to revive cloaks this season and a prospect that it will be at least partially successful. The most practical designs are rather long and cut into the figure so as to be finely shaped without being tight fitting. They are made of grey, dark blue, and black "velvet" cloth or English tricot, bordered with fur and furnished with sleeves cut rather wide at the wrists and a long pointed hood at the back, not so broad and much more dressy than the "Ulster" hood.

These cloaks are very gracefully worn over plain, demi-trained skirts, and with muff and boa matching the fur trimming, a velvet bonnet or even a pretty felt hat constitutes a toilette that is distinguished.

There are much more fanciful cloaks and much more costly ones of matelassee (quilted) silk faced with velvet, but they require a certain style of dress to go with them and can only be properly worn by ladies who can afford to have their entire dress in harmony with an expensive and exceptional garment.

Jackets of course will be popular as ever. Many already possess them, and many others can better afford to buy something already common and in the market than a garment which must be made to order, and of which only a few have yet been seen. Fur trimmings freshen up old jackets wonderfully, and their present popularity suggest a method by which old garments can be utilized and an air of fashion imparted to them at comparatively small expense.

An autumn costume that is new here has an air of distinction that is quite exceptionable. It consists of a plain velvet walking skirt and a camel's hair polonaise with velvet English collar, cuffs, buttons and sash. A light gray felt hat, usually matching the shade of the camel's hair cloth, is trimmed with velvet matching the skirt, and facing upon the polonaise, with the addition of a long ostrich feather, the larger and more natural the better. The color of the velvet is always black or brown. Some ladies utilize an old silk skirt by trimming it up with velvet flounces and put over it a camel's hair polonaise with the regulation velvet mounting with very good results, but the plain walking skirt of velvet is more elegant.

Opera cloaks still retain the dolman shape, though some are made in the circular form. Imported ones are usually either embroidered in colors or made of striped kabyle cloth, the prettiest novelty for opera cloaking of the season. It consists of a stripe of white dressy velvet alternating with a stripe of thick netted silk, knotted silk and chenelle fringe is used for trimmings. Beautiful cloaks have been made of white gros grain lined and quilled and trimmed with white fur, and others of white matelassee silk with silk and pearl gimp or pesementerie put on as embroidery and white ostrich feather bordering.

Fashions in Furs.

Furs are now accepted as part of the inevitable, and are, taken moderately, both useful and becoming attractions to a lady's wardrobe. But the purchase of heavy garments, such as sealskin sacques, by persons who must wear them at all times with all sorts of dresses because they cannot afford any variety to their wardrobes, is a mistake through which they must suffer. A sealskin sacque is only becoming and elegant when the costume harmonizes with it, when a handsome dress and bonnet, unexceptionable gloves, and other accessories, harmonize in color and extend the air of rich sobriety to the entire costume. It is, however, very expensive (if it is good, and a poor one is not worth having) and can be had, perhaps, only at a sacrifice of something else very much needed, and, under the circumstances, very desirable. These things should be taken into consideration before deciding upon so costly a purchase.

A seal or beaver, on the contrary, consisting of muff or boa, is a very desirable possession for ladies whose tastes are quiet and refined, and who care more for durability and fineness than for the whim of the moment in the selection of their furs. A handsome mink set is perhaps more desirable, but it is also more costly and not within the reach of every one. Mink is always "well worn," but the fashionable furs of the season are silver fox and chinchilla.

In common furs black marten (skunk) and arctic lynx, the latter a strong, useful fur, though coarse, are the most popular. Both are long-haired, and if the antecedents of one were more agreeable, it would be admired for its beauty. It is usually made up in its natural color, and is well looking as well as useful and economical. It is sometimes called, instead of black marten, Alaska sable.

There is no change in the shape of muff and boa, but the seal cap is turned up at the side and is shaped exactly like the ordinary felt hat.

A new combination of the muff and boa has been introduced from Germany, which consists of a boa which crosses upon the chest and into the end of which a sort of cornucopia shaped mitten is introduced which serves as a pocket for the hands. It is not likely to supersede the muff, at least at present.

COLLISION AT SEA.

A Fearful Marine Disaster.

The London Standard of the 16th says: "A collision of a terrible character occurred in the Channel last night, about fourteen miles off the Lizard, between two magnificent vessels employed in the colonial trade—the Candahar and Kingsbridge. They were both iron ships, and registered at Liverpool, the Candahar being of 1,410 tons, Jonghian master, bound from London for Melbourne, with a general cargo; she is owned by Messrs. Crawshay, of London. The Kingsbridge was 1,497 tons, with a similar cargo, and bound from London to Sydney; the captain was named Symonds, an American, who had his wife and daughter on board. She is owned by Messrs. Brocklebank, of Liverpool. The first named vessel left London last Friday, and the second on Saturday, and all went well until half-past seven on Wednesday evening, when the Lizard was bearing about fourteen miles south. The weather was fine, with favorable wind, but the night was very dark. Candahar was then seen by the crew of the Kingsbridge bearing down on her on the port track. The chief mate, Mr. Macdonal, was on the fore poop, and when he saw that a collision was inevitable, he called out to the man at the wheel to port the helm, but before the ship answerd the Candahar was down upon her, striking her amidships. The scene was terrible; at the time of the collision many of the crew were in the rigging. One of the topmasts came down, and in no small measure added to the confusion, to which the darkness of the night also contributed. The crew of the Candahar did all they could to save the struggling crew of the Kingsbridge. Unfortunately a great many ropes were not long enough, having been broken in the collision, but after a time longer ones were obtained, and by this means some of the crew and others saved themselves by climbing to the rigging of the Candahar. The chief mate saved himself by clinging to one of the sails of the Candahar. At the time of the collision the captain's daughter was playing the piano in the chief cabin, and when the collision was imminent he requested her and her mother to come on deck. The latter made an attempt to get over the side of the Candahar; her daughter requested her, however, to come to the other side, because the captain was getting out a boat, and thus preventing her from boarding the Candahar. In three minutes the ship went down, and the Captain and his wife and daughter were drowned, as were also eight of the crew, out of a total of thirty-one. The remainder of the crew were brought into Falmouth to-day by the Candahar. The value of the Kingsbridge and her cargo is estimated at £30,000.

THE GLENDENNING SCANDAL.

Testimony of the Mother of the Accused—Another Witness for the Defense Contradicts Certain Statements Derogatory to Mary Pomeroy's Character.

The trial of Rev. John S. Glendenning at Jersey City, continues to create a great deal of interest. Mrs. Sarah Glendenning, the mother of the accused, was called for the defense on Friday. She testified that her son was born in Western Pennsylyania, seven miles from Pittsburgh, in 1849; he lived with her during the time he was in college and when in the seminary; and when he was installed in Jersey City she came with him; he was not accustomed to spend much time outside; he was generally at home by 10 or 11 o'clock in the evening; when he went out witness invariably sat up for him; she never knew of his being out so late as 2 o'clock in the morning; he had been out as late as 12 o'clock, but not alone, and she knew where he was; she knew he called on Mary Pomeroy, but never knew him to stay as late as 12 o'clock, and so far as she knew his visits were not frequent. He had no income except his salary, which was $2,000 per annum. He had told the witness that he had given Mary Pomeroy a locket, but that did not seem strange, because she was a poor girl, and their organist. The witness testified that the accused was at home last New Year's evening. On Thanksgiving day he took supper at Mr. Hallowell's with witness. He spent the night of July 4-'73 at home, also that of July 4-'74. On both evenings he took his sister to see the fireworks. He had a pistol but seldom carried it. Witness was positive that he did not carry it between June 1st and July 16-'74, because she had seen it lying on a chair under some clothing with the muzzle pointing toward his head, and had taken it to her room, locked it up, and retained possession of it until after the arrest, when her son asked for it. Mr. Wall interrupted the witness at this point, and said that the defense had been unable to secure the testimony of Miss Clinton, and they proposed to offer the statement made by Miss Clinton to the witness. Mrs. Glendenning said that Miss Clinton had stated that the family with whom Mary Pomeroy lived was "an ornery family," and Mary was no better. Miss Clinton had also given some particulars which witness would not repeat. The prosecution objected to the testimony, and after a consulation with counsel it was decided to appoint a commission to take Miss Clinton's testimony. On cross-examination the witness said that she did not know of the accused making presents to any other lady than Miss Pomeroy. He had spoken about the efforts Mary Pomeroy made to attract his attention, but said he didn't think any harm of it. He had also spoken of the rumor that he was engaged to Mary.

Miss Agnes A. Clinton, whom the Commission was appointed to hear, came forward and said that her friends in the audience had told her that a free use was being made of her name, and she had decided to come and tell her own story. She testified that Glendenning called on her one evening at Robert Miller's house, and Mary Pomeroy called there, but would not come in. Mrs. Miller saw her outside looking through the blinds and asked her to come in, but Mary refused to come in because there was company. Miss Pomeroy told the witness that she had bought a watch with money which she had intended to purchase a silk dress with. Witness denied that she had ever said that Mr. Miller's ftmily was not a good one, or that Mary Pomeroy was not a good girl. She denied the statement made by Mrs. Glendenning, that, in conversation with her, she had made any such allegations or said anything which could be constructed as Mrs. Glendenning had testified. Witness had seen Glendenning at Mr. Miller's in the absence of the family, and had heard him express surprise at the discovery of their absence, though witness afterward found that he must have been aware of the fact. Witness had frequently seen accused and deceased leave the church building together—in one instance as long as two hours after the close of the service; she had never know Mary Pomeroy to deceive her until in this case. Her principal object in testifying was to protect Mr. Miller's reputation from charges which Mrs. Glendenning had made. She had at first refused to testify because she had liked Mr. Glendenning as a pastor and did not like to testify that he had lied to her, and also because she was unwilling to believe that Mary Pomeroy had deceived her, especially as she was dead.

On cross examination Miss Clinton said: —I came into the church one Sabbath after the Sabbath school had been dismissed, and while I was talking with Miss Pomeroy Mr. Glendenning came out of the parlor and said he had been asleep; I said it must have been a short nap, but I doubted it; he said he did not know so many people had left the church; on the following day he told me he did know, so I found him out in a lie; I went away from the church, leaving Mr. Glendenning and Miss Pomeroy alone; I saw him go into Mr. Miller's one evening; he did not know I saw him; next day he told me he was not there at all; I told him I saw him, so I found him out again.

The case will probably be concluded this week, and the general opinion appears to be that the accused will be found guilty of the charges.

VIOLENCE AMONG THE MINES.

A Man Stoned to Death Near Fishbach, Pa., and His Wife Gagged—Mysterious Disappearance and Supposed Murder.

A correspondent of the N. Y. Herald, writing from Ashland, Pa., Oct. 29th, says:—Lawlessness still prevails in the coal regions. About a week ago James Hirst was stoned to death near Fishbach. The murderers bound and gagged his wife before they committed the crime. At last accounts the perpetrators had not been arrested. Immediately after this the supposed murder of Elias Fisher, a well-known citizen of Frackville, occurred. Although Mrs. Fisher has offered $1,000 reward for the recovery of her husband's body, it has not been found yet. The greatest excitement continues yet in the neighborhood where Fisher's team and a bloody hatchet and revolver were found. The man Reyfurs, who was arrested at Mahanoy on suspicion of being connected with the mysterious disappearance, is still in custody at Pottsville.

Recent Ku-Klux notices have been sent to several mine bosses, threatening them with death unless they leave the region. The last notice was received by Edward Herbert, inside boss at the Wadesville shaft of the Hickory Coal Company. The notification was to the effect that he should leave his position within a month or death would be the consequence. The notice was decorated with a coffin and pistol. The district branch of the Workingmen's Association have passed resolutions condemning the act and offering a reward for the detection of the party or parties who sent the note.

Considerable commotion has been created in the ranks of the desperate men (whose secret organization creates much terror in some sections of the coal country by the enactment of lawless and bloody deeds) by the late denouncement against them of the leading Catholic clergymen of Schuylkill county. One statement condemning the order was authorized by Right Rev. Bishop Wood, of the diocese of Philadelphia, and signed by three clergymen, some of whom have experienced the persecutions of the law breakers. Father Michael Sheridan, of this place, and Father Joseph Bridgeman, Girardville; Edward J. Field, Centralia; Joseph Koch, Shamokin; D. O'Connor, Mahanoy Plain; Henry F. O'Reilly, Shenandoah; Thomas Quinn, Hugh J. McManus, Pottsville, and D. J. McDermott are among the signers.

The Duty of the Troops in New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, October 31.—A general order, issued from the headquarters of the Department of the Gulf, contains the following relative to the disposition of troops on Monday: The troops are in this city to preserve the peace and order, and prevent a conflict between armed bodies of men, and for no other purpose. They will continue to abstain from political discussion and any interference with the election. All officers and men are required to remain in their quarters during the day of election, unless called out to prevent a conflict between armed bodies or by orders from superior military authority.

Trot Between Fullerton and Occident.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 31.—The long-looked for race between Fullerton and Occident took place to-day. Fullerton took the first heat in 2:19. Occident won the second and third heats, making 2:22¾ in the last. It was the closest trotting race ever witnessed here. Occident was driven by Budd Doble, and never made a skip on any heat. Fullerton at the start of the last heat broke badly, and lost about seven lengths, which he could not regain. The excitement over the result was tremendous. Betters and buyers on Fullerton lost heavily. Probably $50,000 changed hands here on the result. Hickox drove Fullerton.

Internal Revenue Receipts.

WASHINGTON, October 31, 1874.

The Safe Burglary Trial

was resumed to-day by the continuation of the cross examination of Mr. Hayes by Mr. Davidge, counsel for the defendants. Mr. Hayes said he never engaged in any illegal or disreputable business until he went to Washington for the Secret Service Division.

Several extracts from the Congress Committee's report were read, and witness was asked if he did not swear to such things. Hayes said he did not; that there were several mistakes in that report as to dates; witness had studied that book very thoroughly.

Before the Court adjourned for the day Albert Cunz gave bail in five thousand dollars to appear for trial at the next term.

Internal Revenue Receipts.

The internal revenue receipts for the month ending to-day were $9,204,871, and for the fiscal year $35,682,498.

The Turkish ambassadors at St. Petersburg, Berlin and Vienna have been instructed that the treaty of Paris must be maintained. Should it be violated in this case, the signatory powers will be appealed to. If, however, Roumania will submit the question to the Porte, a satisfactory compromise is possible.

FRANCE.

The United States sought to recover some $500,000 which had been lost by Paymaster Hodge in speculations in stocks and gold through Polhamaus & Jackson, through whom he operated in Wall street.

The Famine in Nebraska.

OMAHA, October 31.—The officers and branch societies of the Nebraska Relief and Aid Society, in behalf of the grasshopper sufferers, are receiving contribution to meet immediate demands. It is proposed to send a car load per week of previsions and clothing to each of the six principal stations in the western counties where the crops were destroyed, if the liberal contributions now arriving continue. Nine car loads of supplies have already been forwarded. Precautions are taken to see that they go only to the needy. Gen. Jas. S. Brisbin is traveling and soliciting for the society. The Executive Committee in Omaha and authorized officers of branch associations, where such are formed, are alone authorized to receive contributions. There is already much want and suffering.

RELIGIOUS.

Protestant Episcopal Convention.

NEW YORK, October 31.—At the opening of the proceedings to-day in the General Protestant Episcopal Convention, a resolution was adopted that as the number of trustees of the Theological Seminary was so large as to interfere with its efficiency, a committee be appointed of two Bishops, two clergymen, and two laymen, to inquire what legislation is necessary to enable the trustees to govern the Seminary with increased facilities and for other purposes connected with its usefulness.

Message No. 73 of the House of Bishops, relating to the Hymnal, was concurred in.

The Committee on Canons, appointed a Committee of Conference on the amended Canon on the Ritual, made their report, which amended the original Canon reported by the committee, by striking out, in the specifications, the clause relating to the use of incense and the retaining of the crucifix in any part of the place of public worship, with a few unimportant changes.

A message was read from the House of Bishops stating that they did not concur in message 63 with regard to the Conon on Church Music, and asking the appointment of a committee on conference. Concurred in.

It was resolved to conclude the session on Monday evening next.

Message No. 80 from the House of Bishops conveyed the information that they did not concur in message 65 of the House of Deputies, relating to an amendment to article 5 of the Constitution as to suitable provision for an episcopate, and that they concurred in message 66, relating to an amendment to the same article as to the number of parishes required to constitute missionary dioceses.

The subject of baptismal regeneration was called up and briefly discussed. After a motion to lay the subject on the table was lost, the measure was defeated by the following vote: Clerical vote—forty dioceses represented: ayes, 5; noes, 34; divided, 10. Lay vote—thirty-one dioceses represented: ayes, 6; noes, 24; divided, 1.

The Committee on Amendments to the Constitution reported a resolution amending article 37 by adding the following: "Provided that the General Convention may by canon arrange and set forth a shortened form of morning and evening prayer, to be compiled wholly from the Book of Common Prayer, or may authorize it to be done by any diocese for its own use." Adopted. Clerical vote: ayes, 37, noes, 4. Lay vote: ayes, 24; noes, 3.

The Committee on Amendments to the Constitution also reported that it would be inexpedient to support any commission to revise the Constitution or to devise a provincial system for the Church. The result of a long discussion was that the matter was laid on the table.

The Convention adjourned till Monday.

American Jockey Club Races.

NEW YORK, October 31.—The American Jockey Club had an extra meeting to-day on the Jerome Park course. The first race was a steeple chase, and was won by Moonstone.

The third race was a handicap for all ages, for a purse of $600; distance one mile and a half. Shylock won. Time 2:38.

The hack race for gentlemen riders, half a mile, was won by Girl of the Period. Time 50½ seconds.

The fifth race was a handicap steeple chase, for a purse of $800; ten horses started. Trouble won; Diovolo second, Resolute third.

NEW YORK, November 1.—The American Jockey Club ruled off the course John Coffee, the owner of Hare's b. f. Carney, and Hugh Goffrey, the rider of Resolute, for throwing the races yesterday. This action rules both off all courses in the country.

Lake Disasters.

DETROIT, November 1.—The harbor tug Willie Keller, while towing a vessel to Lake Erie last Saturday night, attempted to throw off the line, but it became jammed, and the schooner, moving on rapidly, capsized the tug, and she sank. The female cook was drowned.

The schooner Queen City has been got off, and arrived at Malden this morning. The second mate was accidentally killed on Friday night.

A vessel, name not ascertained, heavily laden, is ashore on Green Island Shoals, in the Straits of Mackinaw.

The barge H. H. Brown, which was sunk at the Lime Kilns, Detroit river, arrived here to-day.

Firemen's Riot at Mahony City.

POTTSVILLE, PA., November 1.—Last night several stables were burned at Mahony City, and after the fire was subdued a dispute arose between the members of the various fire companies, which ended in a riot. Pistols, billies and all kinds of available weapons were freely used. Geo. Major, Chief Burgess, was shot, and is now lying in a critical condition, the ball entering near his heart. Daniel Dougherty, who, it is though, tshot Major, was shot in the neck by Wm. Major, and dangerously wounded. Others were injured, and the excitement through town runs high.

SERIOUS FALL.

A Woman Severely Bruised in the Jail.

Yesterday afternoon, while devotional exercises were being conducted in the county jail, a woman by the name of Linda Lee fell over one of the corridors to the stone floor below. When taken up, she was in an unconscious condition. After being removed to her cell and placed on a bed, Dr. Starr was summoned, who gave her the necessary medical attention. At nine o'clock last night, she had improved so that she was able to walk around, although she had received severe bruises about her back. It is hardly necessary to state that quite a breeze was created among the worshippers when the accident occurred.

GOLD closed in New York Saturday at 110⅛.

WATCH the polls to-morrow. The Democrats are desperate, and will use all means, fair or foul, to elect their ticket.

REMEMBER, the question for you to decide to-morrow is, Tariff or Free Trade. If you want our mills to go on, vote the Republican ticket.

FREDERICK W. SEWARD, son of the late Secretary Seward, and Hamilton Fish, Jr., son of the present Secretary of State, are candidates for the New York Assembly, on the Republican ticket, with good prospects of success.

THE Albany Express prints an estimate of the majorities of counties in which, giving Kings to Tilden by 5,000 and New York city by 38,000, more than the Democrats claim, it says Dix will still carry the State by 25,000.

WE warn every one of our readers who vote to look out for spurious tickets on Tuesday. The county, we understand, is flooded with them, and it behooves every voter to carefully examine his ballot before he hands it to the election officers.

WHAT would you think of the man who in time of battle left his friends and fought awhile in the ranks of the enemies of the cause he espoused, simply out of compliment to some leader in the enemy's ranks? Think of this, then, before you throw away a "complimentary" vote to-morrow.

THE dispute on Ritualism in the Episcopal Convention has assumed a new phase, the House of Bishops non-concurring in the canon adopted by the House of Deputies. They wished the specifications of ritualistic acts struck out, and a Committee of Conference between the Houses has been appointed in the matter.

WM. H. RHINEHART, the distinguished American sculptor, died in Rome, Italy, on Wednesday last. The deceased was a native of Maryland, and though without early education, had the genius and application in him that eventually, through great obstacles, elevated him to a position among the best artists of his time.

MAYOR HAVEMEYER, of New York, thinks election pool selling a violation of law and a most fruitful source of the degradation of the elective franchise. He has communicated his views to the District Attorney, who coincides with him, and the Mayor is now considering the best plan of apprehending and punishing the pool sellers.

WE are well persuaded that the most desperate energies of the Democracy have turned on the attempt to carry the State Legislature. Of course, they want Congress, too, if they can get it; but if they can carry but one, they prefer the Legislature, as the United States Senatorship depends upon it. We urge our friends to be on their guard in this direction.

THOSE who have the best opportunity of knowing say the President's letter, addressed to the editor of the Cincinnati Gazette, although referring to the second term, expresses his views as to the third term. The permission to publish this letter was considered the only means compatible with his sense of propriety of making known the position he now occupies.

WE commend the subjoined letter to all men who love the cause for which the author fought. It embodies a mass of practical sense in a few words. No one can mistake the application:—"Of all men, excuse me from the sympathizer. Northern sympathizers at the South and Southern sympathizers at the North are both the same. What good did either ever do? Not patriotic enough to join the army, too cowardly to express their sentiments to the soldier, too stingy to contribute to the Sanitary Commission, but brave enough to talk to our unprotected families, running down the cause their husbands and fathers were fighting for—to such I say good-bye. I don't want any in mine. I would rather vote for a "reb" who has been in the trenches. He is brave and patriotic, even if he did fight on the wrong side."

SEE to it, to-morrow, that your Republican neighbor does not fail to attend the polls to exercise his right of suffrage. General Apathy has gained victory over the Republican party more frequently than the Democratic party. There is, or can be no no possibility of danger of defeat to-morrow if we have out all the Republican voters. A few active workers in each district can succeed in getting them out, and thus save the State from Democratic rule, and render the election of Republicans to Congress and the Legislature a positive foregone conclusion. Set about to-day to make arrangements for a holiday to-morrow, so that you can give a fair square day's labor in the interest of yourself, your neighbors, your State and your country. Let us up and at the enemy from the opening to the close of the polls, and triumphant victory must and will be ours.

THE CALL TO DUTY.

This is the last working day prior to election. It ought to be wisely improved by every true Republican, in convincing the faint-hearted of duty, and in inspiring them with courage. Bluster, assertion and falsehood have been the stock in trade of the opposition. The Republican party is as firm and faithful to all its principles now as it was in the darkest days of the war. The Democratic party is as unfaithful to the idea of liberty as it was when it gave aid and comfort to the rebellion. The same essential principles are at stake now as then. A Southern paper,—the Louisville Courier-Journal, says "the partisan spirit shows itself in the Democracy by broadly denying that outrages have been committed in the Southern States during the past year for political reasons alone." Commenting on this, the same paper says, "unquestionably men have been shot to death because they were Republicans. Others have been whipped, wounded, and maimed for the same offence. No doubt scores have been so intimidated by threats of violence that they will for the present, at least, take no part in politics, and join the side that promises personal safety. We say that there is no doubt of these facts, and there is none. Names, dates, places, and circumstances have been given with such particularity as to leave no room for doubt. The letters of our own correspondents and those of other reliable newspapers, as well as the dispatches of the Associated Press, have confirmed the facts. A few bad men organized to put down Republicanism, which they learned to hate before the war, and have had no reason since to love it, have ridden over the country, shooting, hanging, whipping, and otherwise maltreating negroes and white men, but generally negroes, because they voted the Republican ticket, and they have not only cowed the negroes, but the peaceable whites themselves who have hesitated to stir lest they should be the victims of unpleasant visitations."

We have pointed out, plain as the day, the influence of the election of Democrats to Congress, as regards Pittsburgh's interests. No man can deny that the election of Hopkins or Cochran will be a moral victory for free trade. Their party is a Free Trade party. They and their views are but little known. Hence their election would be accredited to their party, without regard to their special views. Can Pittsburgh and Allegheny afford to give even a moral victory to Free Trade? But it would be more than this. Hopkins and Cochran, if elected would vote for the election of a Free Trade Speaker of the House. They could not possibly avoid it. Thus they would aid by their votes, the formation of Free Trade committees in Congress. And if this question were taken into caucus they would be forced to support it direct. This is a question of life or death to the interests of Allegheny county.

The Legislature is important. A United States Senator is to be elected. He ought to be a Republican, and can only be by the election of a Republican Legislature. We have had the foot ball of side issues, many of them the outgrowth of personal prejudice,—now let us rise above all these lower impulses, and remembering that we are Republicans, and of the old Guard that has always been faithful, not sully our record now.

We have cheering intelligence from all parts of the State. Our brethren are making a gallant fight, and despite the opposing influence, all looks favorable to right results. The severe contests are only in spots, here and there. The Republican party still is strong, and it calls on all the faithful and true to stand by their colors still. Its State candidates, we unhesitatingly and broadly say, are better men, than those on the Democratic ticket. Our Congressional candidates, in point of experience and ability, are undeniably better than those of the Democracy. Our Legislative candidates are quite as good, and in many instances better. Do your duty,—and you will close up the canvass with a clear conscience and a happy heart.

THE SENATORIAL TICKET.

The Republicans of Allegheny county have put in nomination, on their Senatorial ticket, three names which are deserving of particular mention. In the South Side district, Hon. Miles Humphries is the regular Republican candidate, as against Dr. Wood, the Democratic nominee. In his somewhat extended legislative experience, it is but just to say that Senator Humphries has ever been careful to promote the interests of his constituents, has been faithful to the workingmen, and has wielded a large influence in the Senate. He is well balanced in mind, not given to sensational efforts to catch momentary applause, but is a fair, faithful and able Representative; and, in our deliberate judgment, politics aside, is better adapted to the position to which he is nominated than is his Democratic competitor.

John C. Newmyer, Esq., will, we fully believe, be certainly elected. His record is straightforward, and even brilliant. No good measure has failed to receive his support. While a true Republican, he is independent and fearless. Allegheny county will be honored by sending him to the Senate. The effort is being made to cut down his majority by asking complimentary votes for his competitor. We hope no Republican will do it. This is a dangerous experiment. There is no reason why it should be done. We have not a better man on the ticket than John C. Newmyer; and it will be simply a disgrace to permit him to have less than his party majority. We urgently and earnestly request our friends to stand by him; and Democrats who believe in honest and intelligent legislation, should give him their votes.

Hugh McNeill, Esq., on the Allegheny side, is a gentleman of high standing and pure character. He is identified with the business interests of the city, and is a man of intelligence, and in every way worthy of the position for which he is nominated. He is so distinctly and largely interested in the business of the city, that he will not fail to care very earnestly for his district as regards legislation. We hope the Republicans of Allegheny will see to it that he does not fail of election.

OHIO RIVER IMPROVEMENT.

The Chief Engineer of the War Department, in his forthcoming report, makes some important recommendations for the improvement of the Ohio River, between Pittsburgh and Wheeling. He recommends the construction of movable dams, similar to those in use in France on the Seine. By this system, dams can be built which will raise the water surface from twelve to fourteen feet above the bed of the river, and which can be thrown down in a few minutes, when there is a sufficient natural supply, leaving the river entirely open to navigation. Connected with these movable dams will be locks for use when the dams are up. For the convenience of coal boats he recommends locks six hundred and twenty feet between gates and seventy-five feet wide. Extra gates in the middle will divide the locks into two shorter ones for the benefit of smaller vessels. The approximate estimates of the cost of this improvement from Pittsburgh to Wheeling is $7,474,623, but it is believed that this estimate can be reduced when the detailed surveys now in progress are finished.

For the improvement of the Ohio River, now in progress, an appropriation of $902,-000 is recommended. For the improvement of the Monongahela during the next fiscal year an appropriation of $22,000 is asked. For the improvement of navigation at the Falls of the Ohio River, and enlargement of the Louisville and Portland Canal, an appropriation of $100,000 is recommended.

MR. JOHN LAIRD, the great shipbuilder of England, is dead. The name of Laird is not a savory one in the United States, but the deceased was hardly to blame for the course of the firm, which he founded, but with which he was not connected at the time the Alabama and other piratical crafts were built. Mr. Laird retired from active business in 1861, and thereafter gave his attention to politics, being the member from Birkenhead in Parliament, from that time until the day of his death. He was generally a quiet man in the House, and was chiefly the authority in all matters concerning shipping.

PERSONAL.

UNITED STATES Minister to Hayti, the Hon. Mr. Basset, is lying sick at New Haven.

A CORRESPONDENT says that Dr. De Koven's face is that of "a scholar and mystic, just relieved of entire subjectivity by a strong view of kindly humor and a keen and witty polemical ability."

BY the accession to the Peerage of Gen. Forrester the cognomen of father of the British House of Commons devolves upon Sir Philip de Malpas Grey Egerton, Baronet, who has continuously represented Cheshire, or one of its divisions, since the General Election of 1830.

DR. F. H. HUBBARD, of San Francisco, has offered two prizes of $30 and $20 respectively to the seniors of Dartmouth College for the best essays on topics prescribed by him. The subjects for this year are, "Intellectual Culture and Professional Reward," and "The Rights of Independent Criticism."

THE eldest son of the German Prince Imperial has a very short left arm, and is compelled to use at table a long fork especially adapted to his necessity. With this long fork he may, under the rule of the proverb as to a long spoon, be regarded as prepared for even more imperial company than that of his grandpop.

SPEAKING of Mrs. Swisshelm's bonnet, a correspondent of the Detroit Free Press, says: "She dresses plainly, wears short dresses, and a silk bonnet with wide, short strings pinned under her chin. This bonnet, which is always laid aside when she speaks, is a marvel in its way; its general appearance would indicate that it belonged to the pre-historic past. It evidently has required about three times the time, trouble and material that would be requisite to construct a modern one; for it is puffed, shirred and gathered till not a single plain place is left in the whole affair; but she clings to it with a devotion that only years of constant companionship could awaken."

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

A FAMILY in Omaha recently inherited a fortune in England amounting to eight hundred thousand dollars.

THE residence of Lewis Miller, at Akron, Ohio, was burned last Friday. Loss about $30,000; insured for $25,000.

AN illicit still has been seized in Brooklyn, together with a large amount of whisky and material for its manufacture. The whole of the property seized and destroyed is estimated to be worth $75,000.

A TANNER at Salem, Mass., recently exhibited samples of leather tanned with tea. According to the argument employed by the grave-digger in Hamlet, a tea drinker's stomach should be fitted to keep out water.

THE number of Chinese students in Massachusetts and Connecticut is now upwards of 50, and will soon be 100. These "Emperor's boys," as they are called, are allowed about $700 a year for expenses by the home government.

THE official vote on the Constitutional Amendment in Connecticut giving towns of over 5,000 inhabitants two Representatives in the Legislature, is: For the amendment, 33,300; against, 4,585; giving a majority of 28,715 in favor of it. Two towns made no returns.

A CHATTANOOGA capitalist recently purchased for $25,000 a bit of land on the side of Lookout Mountain, thirty miles long by one mile wide, containing inexhaustible beds of the finest iron ore in the world. For this tract an English company has since offered him one million dollars, which was refused.

THE residence of Hon. Jacob Thompson, in Memphis, was set on fire and totally consumed on Saturday. It is believed the house was first robbed and then set on fire. Mr. Thompson and family are absent, in attendance at the Episcopal Convention in New York. The loss is $15,000.

A SHREWISH wife, being very ill, called her husband to come and sit by her bedside. "This is a sad world, my dear," said the wife plaintively. "Very," considered the man. "Were it not for you I should love to quit it." "Oh, my dear," eagerly responded the husband, "how could you think I would interfere with your happiness? Go, by all means!" The lady got well.

FOREIGN ITEMS.

SOUTH AMERICA, in the absence of earthquakes, has to get along as well as possible with revolutions. The latest event is the rebellion of two provinces of Venezuela against President Blanco.

A CORRESPONDENT writes from a Swiss town: "I was much amused on looking over a visitors' book at the inn to find that under the head 'occupation,' two German girls had written: 'Looking for a husband.'"

RIO JANEIRO, with a population of 277,-735, had a total mortality, last year, of 15,-382, a larger per cent. of deaths to population than in any year since 1820. Yellow fever led the list in the causes of death, having carried off 3,604 victims; small-pox followed with 1,629.

ACCORDING to the Rio Grande Diario, the slaughtering of cattle in South America during the 1874 season, shows a falling off of about thirty per cent. from that of 1873, the number killed, in the River Platte and Southern Brazil having been 2,044,347 in 1873, and only 1,405,605 in 1874.

THE Prince de Joinville and the Duke d'Aumale were endeavoring to arrange with M. Thiers when he was driven from power the removal to French soil of the remains of Louis Philippe, who was buried in England. They are now soliciting the same permission from MacMahon. They promise to effect the removal so quietly that it cannot give rise to any manifestation.

AT the present time there is a movement on foot in England, backed by ample funds, for the purpose of securing to farm laborers an interest in the land. It has become extremely popular, and is supported by capitalists and influential landlords. This land question is assuming great prominence in England, and in the future it will occupy a prominent place in the debates and deliberations of Parliament.

VERY curious cases sometimes get into the courts. In London recently two ladies hired a cab and were afterward taken ill with small-pox, from which one of them died. The survivor sued the cab owner for damages, alleging that the cab was infected with the disease. The defendant in answer put in the remarkable plea that the ladies hired nothing but the cab; that they did not demand nor did he intend that the small-pox should accompany the cab; that he had made no representation of the vehicle being infected; and if he had, then they could properly maintain a suit against him in case they were dissatisfied with the quality or amount of the disease furnished. The London court has therefore to decide the question whether the plaintiff can obtain damages because gratuitous small-pox was given without any previous bargain being made in relation to it.

A DEMOCRATIC YELL.

An Incident of the Late War.

George William Curtis concluded an able speech in New York, on Thursday last, as follows:—"Now, some men may ask me if I have heard from Indiana, and if I have heard from Ohio. Yes, I have heard, and as I take leave of you, fellow-citizens, I am reminded, as I am speaking of a soldier of the war, and not of a man who declined to sign a call simply to support the Constitution and the laws, I am naturally reminded of a little incident of that war. Two soldiers, young soldiers, such as our friend upon this platform before me [General Sharpe] has so often seen, one of these never having been in battle before, the other only a little older in the service, were marching side by side toward the rebel battery, and suddenly, in an awful crash of shot and shell, a cry so fierce, so terrible, rang through the air, that it seemed to chill and curdle the very blood in our veins. "Did you hear that cry?" said the older to the younger. "Yes, I heard it; what was that?" said he, steadily moving on—"what was that?" "It was the rebel yell; did it frighten you?" "Frighten me! frighten me!" said the other; "the rebel yell is the music to which I march." [Cheers.] And, fellow-citizens, as you ask me if I have heard from Indiana and Ohio, I answer "Yes;" I have heard that cry from the West. I have heard it echoed and re-echoed in Brooklyn and Tammany Hall, and I reply to it in your name, and in the name of every honest, intelligent voter of this State, 'Yes, we have heard it, and the Democratic yell of Tammany Hall is the music to which the Republicans of New York are marching to victory.'"

OBITUARY.

To the Editors of the Pittsburgh Gazette:

James Logan died near Allegheny city, Allegheny county, Pa., September 8, 1874, aged 79 years, 3 months and 17 days. Father Logan was a native of Allegheny county, and was born in Temperanceville (now 36th ward, Pittsburgh.) From the time of boyhood until thirty-nine years of age, he lived a member of the United Presbyterian Church adorning the Christian profession with a chaste life. He then, for the sake of convenience, united with the Presbyterian Church, where, for ten years, he lived an active and honored member, sustaining the relationship of elder. Connecting himself then, in view of Church doctrine, with the Methodist Episcopal Church, he lived for twenty-five years with this people, sustaining positions to which his deep piety and liberal talents recommended him. In view again of a change in the place of residence, he secured a home in the United Brethren Church. While returning from a prayer-meeting in Johnstown, Pa., September 14, 1873, he received an injury from a fall which occasioned his being a helpless cripple until the hour when he peacefully fell asleep. May the blessing of our Heavenly Father rest richly upon the mourning ones.

A. E. EVANS.

THE TWENTY-SECOND DISTRICT.

Negley and a Tariff—Hopkins and Free Trade.

To the Editors of the Pittsburgh Gazette:

In several of the newspapers recently there appeared a communication from Jas. H. Hopkins, Esq., in which he says: "If any further declaration is needed, I accept and adopt as my creed, the tariff resolution of the late Republican Convention of this State." Now, Messrs. Editors, as the tariff is the all-important question in the present canvass, being the bread and butter (to use an homely phrase) of a greater portion of our citizens, would it not be better to seek in the house of its friends, than in that of its avowed enemies, for a representative; more especially as it is within my recollection, that in the memorable and exciting political canvass of 1844 the Democrats of Pennsylvania had inscribed on their banners "Polk, Dallas and the tariff of '42," and the Democratic papers, and their speakers upon the stump, proclaimed them (Polk and Dallas) "as good tariff men as Clay and Frelinghuysen," and by such trickery was Pennsylvania carried for the Democratic candidates; and alas! what was the result? That same measure (the tariff), defeated in the Senate by the casting vote of its presiding officer Geo. M. Dallas, a recreant son of Pennsylvania. Now Gen. Negley has been tried (and not found wanting,) and by his acts and votes proven himself a tariff man, and in favor of the improvement by the General Government of the western and southern water courses, and alive to the interests of Pittsburgh and Pennsylvania, and being the candidate of the party whose fundamental principle is "protection to home industry" in contra-distinction to Free Trade, the fundamental principle of the Democratic party, and whose candidate, Mr. Hopkins is. With all due deference to Mr. Hopkins as a citizen and a lawyer, would it not be wise policy for those favorable to a tariff (and who in Pittsburgh and Allegheny county is not) to vote for a known friend (by acts, speeches and votes) of that all-important measure than to trust to the promise of the candidate of the party that had not the honesty to say yea or nay in regard to the tariff, but pass it by in silence, in their platform of principle enunciated at their late State Convention in Pittsburgh. This latter should alone create suspicion and distrust. This party always has, and is to day proclaiming Free Trade, as witness their platform of principles in most of the States, and have more honesty in proclaiming them than have they of the Keystone State.

The friends of free trade, fearing their ability to repeal the tariff, have hit upon that pernicious and back-door measure "Reciprocity," which is nothing but Free Trade (in disguise) via Canada. I advise all friends of Home Industry, of whatever political party, to vote for Negley and the whole Republican ticket, and be not deceived and led astray by the sophistry of the candidate of the Free Trade Democratic party.

"MONONGAHELA."

The Third Term Question.

To the Editors of the Pittsburgh Gazette:

It is amazing how "great a matter a little fire kindleth." The "third term" has assumed proportions, in certain quarters, perfectly wonderful when we reflect on the fact that except in one or two unimportant Southern States, no intimation, public or private, has been given by any Republican favoring so absurd an idea, but the contrary has been proclaimed by several Republican State and county conventions, and so far as my information goes, no Republican paper has given currency or endorsement to the "third term" project in any shape or form; and yet many Democratic and a few would-be neutral papers—all of whom wish to put a stigma on the administration or its supporters—seem to employ all their leisure time (and some of them have a good deal of such time) in setting up this "man of straw" in order, as I suppose, to show their smartness in knocking it down. I don't think they show much skill in either operation. Anything to beat Grant is the motto of the papers I have alluded to, and as the charges brought against Gen. Grant in 1872 have died away, and their meanness and folly been made apparent to a discerning public, this has been resorted to in order to bring reproach upon either the Republican party or its gallant leader. This third term clatter (as to argument, there is absolutely none) was set on foot by those "whose wish is father to the thought." The effort to connect the Republican party with it is contemptible. Frank Blair suggested this in the last Presidential campaign, and charged that Grant would not only elect himself for the third, but make himself dictator for life if elected then or for the second term. He was, thanks to a kind Providence, elected the second time, and whoever lives to see the next Presidential campaign will know how much stock to take in Mr. Frank Blair's assertions or that of "his blowers and strikers."

A LITERARY CURIOSITY.

ASSESSORS

TAKE NOTICE.

The Election Assessors for the newly divided Districts in the City of Pittsburgh, who were confirmed by the Court Friday, October 23d, 1874, are requested to call at the Office of the County Commissioners, be sworn, and receive their instructions for making the Registration in their respective precincts.

As but one week is left for doing this work, Assessors will see the importance of attending to their duties without further delay.

JACOB STUCKRATH,
JAMES G. MURRAY,
AUGUSTUS BECKERT,
oc26 County Commissioners.

THE LATE M. GUIZOT.

A Witness of his Steadfast Christian Faith.

The late M. Guizot left in dying, a witness of his steadfast Christian faith which will probably be quoted more than any other passage his untiring pen has ever traced. He begins his testament with a comprehensive and unflinching statement of his faith not only in God the Creator, but in Christ the Redeemer, and in the revelations of the Bible. But more striking still than this confession of faith, is the confession of the dying sage of the limitations of knowledge and dogma. He says: "I bow before the mysteries of the Bible and the Gospel, and I hold aloof from scientific discussion and solutions by which men have attempted to explain them. I trust that God permits me to call myself a Christian, and I am convinced that in the light which I am about to enter we shall fairly discern the purely human origin and vanity of most of our dissensions here below on divine things." These are weighty words, coming from a man who has throughout his long life been so fierce in controversy, and so unyielding in points of doctrine as to gain himself the sobriquet of the "Protestant Pope." His bitterness in matters of Church discipline was so much stronger than his righteous detestation of the Empire that he did not scruple to call upon Napoleon III. to take official action against certain clergymen with whom he was in dispute. But with the clearer light of eternity coming in upon him, he sees how futile are these controversies among believers, and records his new convictions of charity in a paper which will be read throughout Christendom.

We beg leave to offer to the public our

which is Anti-freezing and Inodorous. It is the most durable Closet in the market, for the following reasons: It will not freeze. It is strictly self-acting. It does not cause any re-acting and bursting of pipes. It is free from all obnoxious odors, and therefore will improve the sanitary condition of our cities. It has no valves to get out of repair and leak.

With our valuable improvement obnoxious cesspools in yards are dispensed with, as direct communication is made with the sewer pipe.

The public are invited to call at our salesroom, and examine this valuable improvement in operation, where its great advantages can be seen at a glance, or send for circular containing full particulars.

Latest Advices Concerning Money and Stock Matters.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, November 2, 1873.

October closed with a favorable financial showing,—the month having been marked by slow but continual progress. It is evident that the business of the country is slowly but steadily recuperating from the effects of the panic, and that, the winter passed, we will move steadily forward in our career of prosperity once more. It is still a question whether the winter will be hard or easy. Those who seriously feared that business would be prostrated, and the poor compelled to endure much suffering, now freely express confidence that there will be a moderate supply of work for all, and consequently very little suffering. There are others who freely admit the improvement that is taking place, but claim that when winter sets in, there will be a temporary reaction in the progress of trade, and that dullness and suffering will prevail. We sympathize with the sanguine view, chiefly for the reason that the improvement made has been so gradual that it will be fully maintained.

Apropos of this subject we clip the following from the Philadelphia Ledger, which, while it differs in some particulars from our view, embraces one or two different points: The money market continues in a condition of quiet so absolute that its future cannot be foretold with any sort of certainty. Business is exceedingly dull, and though the comparatively small sales that are being made are for cash, there are numerous failures reported every week, the fruits mainly of extravagant expenditures in high rents and living rather than in losses from bad bargains. Extravagant habits are the natural fruits of the war, when men got suddenly rich by "shoddy," and entered upon life and living accordingly. The source of this sudden wealth having been brushed out of existence, current expenses, which it is found hard to acknowledge, naturally run into bankruptcy. Hence failures. But every failure brings us nearer to the bottom, when a better and more prosperous condition of affairs will succeed. There is just now no demand for money, for the reason that there is now no use for it in any pursuit to which it may be profitably applied, and will not be until the feeling is general that the bottom of values has been touched, when capitalists may enter upon enterprises with a reasonable assurance that the prices of their productions will gradually advance—higher next week, next month and next year than they are now.

—We have a report from Washington that the public debt statement for the month of October will not probably show more than a very small reduction, if, indeed, any at all. While the internal revenue receipts have remained at the very highest mark, the exports have been light, and the current expenses of the month of October are always very heavy.

—One ton of silver was deposited at the New York Assay Office one day last week.

PITTSBURGH DAILY MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, Oct. 31, 1874.

The movement inaugurated within the past few days to establish a merchants exchange in this city, is a good one, and it is hoped that it will be successful. There is no question but what an organization of this character is badly needed, and it does not follow, because repeated efforts have been made in the past to keep up an exchange and failed, that this one should prove a failure also. It is very important that an exchange should be established here, where our merchants can be brought together every day, to buy and sell and compare notes, and it is a shame that a city like Pittsburgh should be so far behind the times in this respect. Having taken hold of the matter, we are in hopes that our merchants will adhere to it, and if they can only keep it up for a few months, it will be able to take care of itself afterwards; all that is necessary is a little perseverance in order to get the trade thoroughly broke into it, to become accustomed to meet together daily for the transaction of business, and we are satisfied that there will be no trouble thereafter. An organization of this kind possesses many great advantages to the merchant, one of the most prominent of which is that he can do more business during the hour he is on 'Change than he could do all day, perhaps, as business has hitherto been conducted, with much less trouble and greater comfort and satisfaction.

APPLES—There is an increasing demand, and for choice fruit, prices are a shade better: quotable at $1,50 to $2,75 per barrel, according to quality and condition.

APPLE BUTTER—In kegs, 60@65 ℔ gallon.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR—4¼@4½c ℔ lb.

BEANS—$2@2,50 per bushel.

BUTTER—The market for this important article continues dull, and with a supply considerably in excess of the demand, prices are weak but not quotably lower: prime to choice roll, 27 to 30 cents; medium to good, 20@25.

CHESTNUTS—$2,50@3 ℔ bushel.

CHEESE—The market is reported steady and fairly active but unchanged: prime Ohio Factory, 16½@17c; New York do., 17½@18.

CRANBERRIES—$10@15 ℔ bbl, as to quality.

EGGS—The supply of fresh, is small and the market is firmer in consequence, but prices remain about as last quoted, 24@25 cents; pickled quoted at 18@20c.

FLOUR—Continues dull and weak but unchanged. We continue former quotations: Spring wheat flours, $5,75@6 for Wisconsins, and $6,25@6,50 for Minnesotas; winters at $6@6,25 for red, and $6,75@7 for white. Rye Flour, $5,75.

GROCERIES—Our New York dispatch of yesterday reports Coffee unchanged, while our Baltimore telegram reports that market firm with no stock in first hands. There is no question but what the present position of the market favors the selling interest, but there are well informed operators who have but little confidence in the future, claiming that the market is now being manipulated by a few large speculators, and that after they have unloaded a break is almost inevitable. Sugars continue quiet, although private and reliable advice from New York report a firmer undertone in that market, where the feeling appears to prevail that prices, to use a common phrase, have about touched bottom.

GRAIN—Trade in grain circles continues slow, with more offering than there is a demand for, which may be attributed to the unsettled character of the advices from the west, our main source of supply. The Chicago market has been dull and offish for Wheat, Corn and Oats all week, while Rye and Barley, on the other hand, are firmer. In our market the demand for Wheat continues light, but prices remain unchanged: Penna and Ohio red, $1,12@1,15; white at $1,18@1,20. Oats quotable at 58@59, according to quality, and the demand for the present is light, as both retailers and large consumers generally are pretty well supplied. New ear Corn is quoted at 60 to 62c (70 lbs to the bushel,) and new Shelled at 68@70; old shelled, 82@84. As will have been observed by those who have watched the course of the market, new and old Corn are gradually coming together, and in a few weeks more the former will be worth just as much as the latter. Rye is steady at $1@1 05. Barley is quiet and there is so little doing that we omit quotation.

There was a full attendance on 'Change this morning, nearly in the city being represented, and considerable business was transacted:

3 cars mixed Oats free in elevator	58½
4 cars prime Ohio white free in elevator	59
5 cars prime western white free in elevator	59@60
2 cars old shelled Corn free in elevator	83
1 car old shelled Corn free in elevator	84
2 cars Red Wheat on track	1,15
2 cars White Wheat on track	1,20

In addition to above we were reported a sale of 15 cars of new shelled Corn, to be delivered on track, in November, but the terms were withheld.

HAY—The market for baled is firmer, but prices are without quotable change, ranging from $17 to $21 ℔ ton, as to quality.

POTATOES—Notwithstanding the arrivals have dropped off somewhat, the market is well supplied, and prices are easier; may be quoted at 65 to 85 cts ℔ bushel, on track, by the car load, the outside figure for choice Peach Blows. Sweets continue very dull; quotable at $2,50 ℔ bbl for Mariettas; $3@3,50 for Baltimores, and $4@4,50 for Jerseys.

PROVISIONS—There is a continued fair jobbing trade, but, as will be seen, we have reduced our quotations on Mess Pork & Lard.

CATTLE.

While, as will be seen, the arrivals were much less than those of last week, 191 cars, the market was one of the worst since the panic, and some dealers claimed that it was the hardest we have had for several years; it opened dull, dragged all the way through, and closes with prices down from ⅜ to ½ on common and fully a ¼ on the best grades. In a word, it was pretty well demoralized from the opening until the close, and we are reliably informed that the were cattle sold for less than they cost in the country, losing the owners freight, commission, shrinkage and other incidental expenses. Prime shipping 1,300@1,500 steers did not suffer as much as common natives and poor Texas, as the supply of the kind in question was comparatively light, but, as we have already stated, there was a heavy shrinkage in all kinds. Owners, as a rule, were satisfied to meet the market, to accept whatever they could obtain; but some of them were unable to sell at all, and had to ship on futher east; and buyers this week were masters of the situation—were able to dictate the price. There was an extra drove of steers sold in the early part of the week at 6½, but the same cattle would not have brought that price subsequently. We are cognizant of a sale of 90 good 1,100 lb feeders having been sold at 4⅝; and 5 cars of fair 850 Texans at 2,85. Stockers weighing say from 700 to 900, may be quoted at 2¾ to 3c, and good 1,000 to 1,100 feeders, 3¼@4⅜. Bulls have dropped ¼ to 1c ℔ lb within the past two weeks, and we now quote at 2@2½. The sales of all kinds for the week footed up 4,077 head, of which 56 cars were purchased for shipment to Philadelphia; 11 cars to New York, and 139 cars were taken by country dealers and butchers.

NO IMPROVEMENT ELSEWHERE.

Our dispatches from all quarters continue very unfavorable to the selling interest, and it is evident that sellers generally have been losing heavily all around during the past two weeks. The fact is there have been too many cattle forced on the markets, and as long as this continues no improvement can reasonably be expected. A New York exchange of Friday says: "The quality ranged from very common to very good. The inveterate croaker was filled with satisfaction to-day. The market was quite as bad as his worst predictions had pictured it, and his face was covered with smiles. Butchers had all the cattle they wanted, but would take a few more as a gift, or at such prices as a sympathetic disposition or a generous feeling for the owners might suggest to them. Thus the market dragged all along until late in the day, with fleshy Illinois and Kentucky steers and oxen going slowly at 8½@8¾ cents per pound; a few picked lots at 10½@11½ cents; some of the worst natives at 7½ cents to dress 55 lb; and Texans at 6½@7 cents to dress 55 lb. About eighty car-loads due at Harsimus Cove to-day were stopped at Harrisburg, and the salesmen hope by keeping back the shipments to check the downward tendency and save the shipper from utter ruin. This has been the most disastrous week of the year, and it is to be hoped that we shall never again have such a market for beeves as we have had for the last five market days."

HOGS.

The "run," as will be seen, was comparatively light, 55 cars short of last week, and while the market was dull during Monday, and from that up until Wednesday, there has since then been quite a reaction, and prices have advanced, as compared with this day week, fully 50 cents ℔ cwt. It was discovered about the middle of the week that the "run" would likely be a light one, and, furthermore, the change in the weather was not without its effect, as it caused some of the packers in the West to commence buying; this stiffened up the Western markets, which resulted, as we have already stated, in an advance here. Prime Philadelphia hogs sold this morning at from 7 to 7,20, against 6,50@6,60 this day week, and Yorkers brought from 6,25 to 6,60, although they may be fairly quoted at 6¾ to 6⅝. The arrivals to-day, up until noon, were only 3 cars, and there was not a single hog remaining, when we left the yards, unsold.

SHEEP.

The supply of this class of stock was also comparatively light, as compared with last week, although it was considerably in excess of the demand, as the market was one of the worst we have had for several months. There were but comparatively few buyers in attendance, and with very unfavorable advices from the east, especially from New York, the falling off in the demand was greater than the falling off in the receipts, and prices may be quoted down from ⅜ to ½ of a cent, as compared with this day week. There was a bunch of extra sold early in the week at 4,90, and a single deck brought 5 cts, but the very best cannot now be quoted above 4½ to 4¾, and during the latter part of the week the bulk of the sales, we have reason to believe, were made within the range of 3@4.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, Oct. 31, 1874.

CRUDE.

The Crude market has been considerably demoralized all week and prices are lower than they have been for several months; it has been offering during the past two days at 70 cents ℔ bbl, at Parker, for immediate shipment. There are various reasons for this sharp reaction, the most prominent of which is the increased production (quite a number of new wells having been reported recently) together with a decreased consumption. We do not know how it is elsewhere, but it is certain that the consumption here has fallen off almost, if not altogether, one-half within the past month. The daily average yield, according to our latest and most authentic advices from the producing regions, is upwards of 30,000 bbls and increasing, while stocks are unprecedently large; it has been asserted by those who think they understand the situation, that there is enough oil above ground now to meet the demand for a year, even if every producing well was shut down.

REFINED.

Continues very dull and considerably demoralized—in sympathy with the raw article—and prices are lower now than they have been yet; the best offer for Baltimore this afternoon was 10⅝, while Philadelphia was offered at 10¾, with no buyers. There has been little or no oil sold here for a couple of weeks, and the indications are that business is destined to continue dull during the balance of the season.

BARRELS.

The Barrel trade continues very dull and neglected, although prices are without quotable change; countries, $1,30; city make, $1,40.

IRON MARKETS.

Reports from New York, Cleveland, Philadelphia and England.

NEW YORK—American Pig.—The market for American Iron still lags, and prices are irregular and declining. $28 is now about the top figure for No. 1, though in a few instances $29 is still obtained but we have heard of sales as low as $27. The Allentown Company are very firm, and we have authentic information that $28, cash, was by them refused to-day for 1,000 tons. It is very difficult to give fixed quotations for any particular brand, as every transaction appears to be aranged on its own merits; prompt cash, credit of buyer, or necessities of sellers, all entering into the final arrangement of the trade. The sales are light, and we only hear of 500 tons Thomas, 250 tons Crane, and 100 tons Lehigh Valley, all on private terms. We quote No. 1, $27@29; No. 2, $26@27; and Forge, $23@25.

Bar Iron.—The nominal market prices for Refined Bar Iron is still three cents, and as far as Eastern makers are concerned there would have been no difficulty in maintaining this figure; had it not been for the raiding of certain Pittsburgh mills, who have again commenced cutting prices. This course has had the tendency to weaken the market, while it has not swelled the sales of the Western mills, as buyers have become very easily alarmed and will only buy when they are forced to. There is no doubt Philadelphia and Eastern Pennsylvansa mills will now lower their price to meet the competition, as they have the protection of the Western freight in their favor. It is very unfortunate that this fresh weakness should have developed itself, as through the curtailment of production the Eastern market was gradually assuming a tone that bade fair to develop into activity as the season advanced. It will now take several weeks to show how far the demoralization extends.

Rails.—The market generally continues quiet and without new features of interest. A sale has lately taken place of 4,000 tons American Rails, but the particulars are withheld from the public. We quote Welsh at $48@50, gold, and American, $55, currency.

Old Rails.—Very little, if anything, has been done in Old Rails, and values are nominally unchanged. We quote at about $30 for T's.—Iron Age.

CLEVELAND.—From all points we hear of increased dullness in nearly all grades of Manufactured Iron, and this market seems to be no exception. The mills are fast clearing off their order books, and becoming anxious for new orders, a commodity at present difficult to find in any quantity at any price. With a returning scarcity of orders the mills are resorting to the old practice of cutting prices, but as yet without any advantage gained other than that questionable one of making the real bottom very hard to discover. Some makers are again agitating the policy of a general shutting down of the works for sixty or ninety days, and such, no doubt, would be the proper course to pursue, judging from the makers' standpoint, but we are doubtful it it could be carried out, as there are some insurmountable difficulties in the way, aside from the humanitarian view of throwing so many hands idle just at the approach of Winter. We therefore think it not improbable that Manufactured Iron will reach lower prices before January 1st next than at any time the present year. Some specialties, as Hoop Iron and Wire, are in good demand and fairly maintain their prices.

PHILADELPHIA—The situation of the markets continues very much the same as at our last report, with little or no demand for Pig Metal, a fair business in Bars and Plates, and an active an increasing inquiry for Rails. The anomalous condition thus reported fairly reflects the actual situation of the trade throughout the country, and is, in some hands, looked upon as indicating the beginning of the long looked for improvement. As a business fact, the transactions in Rails are undoubtedly greater within the two weeks past than for months. While prices are low these purchases are quite as certainly exhausting the supply of made Rails, and furnishing orders for Rail mills, which, if continued, as is to be expected, must necessarily affect prices of Pig Metal, or, at least, furnish a demand for consumption. At the same time it is to be noted that the railroads companies purchasing Iron will also soon be compelled to contract for additional rolling stock, now much needed, and which will give a better market for Bar, Plate and Tank Irons. There are also some additional features of interest in the market relative to Steel Rails, one or two of the Eastern roads being in negotiation for a considerable quantity aggregating some 40,000 tons, which, with previous orders, will keep the Steel works and Rail mills supplying them busy for some time to come. At present prices of Steel Rail, it is evident that the American Bessemer Rail can now be laid down at tide water equally as cheap as English Bessemer, and generally fully equal if not superior in quality to the latter. This has undoubtedly come about from the greater attention paid to the production of Bessemer Pig in the United States, as well as, of course, from the reduction in price of all Pig Metal. All things considered, there is more profit in the manufacture of Steel Rails at present prices than of Iron Rails, and we may therefore naturally expect for the future an extention of the Bessemer product in this country. Although there is but slight encouragement in the trade to be noted at present, a better feeling prevails, for the reasons stated, than was the case a fortnight since. Prices are, however, nominally the same, and afford but a slight margin of profit: so slight indeed that any interference with the tariff, as foreshadowed for the coming session of Congress, would practically close up every branch of the industry. The following prices as quoted in this market are continued: Pig Iron.—No 1 Foundry, $29; No 2, $26, Gray Forge, $25; White and Mottled, $18 to $22. Charcoal Pig, $37@38. Bars—3c ℔ lb.

BRITISH IRON MARKET—A cable dispatch to the Iron Age under date of Oct. 28th, says: Scotch Pig.—Since last report the market has been depressed, but has rallied again, and prices are now firm. The following are makers' quotations:

Coltness No. 1	105s
Gartsherrie No 1	102s 6
Glengarnock No 1	96s
Eglinton No 1	87s

Manufactured Iron.—The market is dull, with small demand and little business, and prices are weaker, although nominally unchanged. We quote Best Staffordshire Bars, £10 5s to £11. Rails.—There is a fair amount of business doing, although prices are weak. We quote Welsh, £7.@7. 10s.

GEORGE H. ROHE,
Sergeant, Signal Service, U. S. A.

The weather yesterday was clear and cool, and the prospects for water are scarcely as favorable as they were a week ago. There is not much hope of a rise until after there has been a fall of snow.

—The Cincinnati and Evansville Red Collar Line packet Eddyville, Captain William R. Gracey, bound from Evansville to Cincinnati, yesterday morning, about 5 o'clock, while passing over "Ranty"—named by the late Captain Blair Simmons—the lower bar at Rising Sun, Indiana, rubbed, and in backing off struck some hidden obstruction, knocking a large hole in her hull under, and near the starboard cylinder, and sunk in five minutes, the water being two feet deep over her starboard guard, with her larboard out of water. Her cargo consisted principally of 620 barrels of cement, 300 barrels of lime, 25 tons of pig lead, 12 tons of scrap iron, and considerable miscellaneous freight for Cincinnati. Captain Gracey came up on the General Buell and returned with diver Joe Graham, last night. He expects to build a bulkhead around the break in her hull, and with the aid of the Champion No. 8's pumps, raise her to-day, when she will come here, discharge her cargo, and go on the ways or in the docks for repairs. Captain Gracey hopes to be able to have the Eddyville ready to return to Evansville from Cincinnati, on Saturday next. She had just been docked and thoroughly repaired at Evansville, and was on her first trip here to ply in connection with the Shippers' Own. The Eddyville pilots were George Hukill and Tom Hunt, the latter being on watch when she sank. Captain T. G. Ryman, her owner, came up from Evansville by rail, arriving at the wreck last night. Captain Gracey entered protest. The Eddyville was built at Evansville, and came out in January, 1871, when she was valued at $5,000. She is not insured.—Cin. Commercial.

—Sunday's Cincinnati Commercial says:—The Tennessean was built at Cincinnati by Captain S. M. Barner, an uncle of Ben. F. Egan, in 1830. Her dimensions were 136 feet keel, 27 feet beam, and 9 feet hold. She departed from this city on her first trip in February, 1830....Captain Frank Y. Batchelor, of the Mollie Ebert, received the gratifying intelligence yesterday that Mrs. Batchelor and Frank Y., Jr., arrived safely at San Francisco, on the 22d of October, where they will remain until next spring....The Eddyville sunk at Rising Sun on Friday morning, was raised last night and pumped out by the Champion No. 8, and will arrive here to-day and go on the docks for repairs. She will be ready to resume her trade to Evansville in the Red Collar Line on next Saturday.

—Dr. Thomas J. Griffiths, Surgeon in Charge of the U. S. Marine Hospital at the port of Louisville, Ky., reports the following as the condition of the Hospital under his charge during the month of September, 1874: No. patients remaining on the last day of Oct., 57; No. patients admitted during the month of Sept., 49; No. of patients treated during the month of Sept., 106; No. of patients discharged during the month of Sept., 32; No. of patients died during the month of Sept., 1; No. of patients remaining on the last day of Sept., 73; No. out-door marine patients treated during the month of Sept., 6; No. private patients treated during the month of Sept., 7. Died, E. D. Hastings, rouster, on the Thompson Dean.

—The Vicksburg Herald says the Natchez made the run from New Orleans to Harry Hill's gate, drawing eight feet, in one hour and a half minute. The distance is eighteen miles, and it was to that point the Princess was out one hour on her famous run to Natchez, which stood unprecedented until beaten by the Lee and Natchez. That was a fine run the Princess made in August, 1855, from New Orleans to Red Church in 1 hour 36½ minutes; Red River, 12 hours 51 minutes, and Natchez, 17 hours 30 minutes. The Lee and Natchez didn't beat that time many minutes. The Princess and Natchez were both built at Cincinnati by Johnston & Morton.

—G. L. and J. Kouns, of New Orleans, and well known Red River steamboatmen, have instituted suit in the United States Circuit Court for New York City against Otis N. Cutler, claiming $32,000 damages. The suit is predicted on the action of Cutler, while special agent of the Treasury Department, in 1865, at New Orleans, for regulating the trade in cotton within what was known as the insurrectionary district, in exacting money from defendants unlawfully. It is thought that Cutler will have a hard time of it to exhibit clear hands. Ben. F. Butler is one of the attorneys for the defense. Should the suit go against Cutler, other suits to the amount of $10,000,000 will be instituted.

—A St. Louis dispatch under date of Friday says: The last boat in from below reports 6 feet out to Cairo. Business to-day was fair. The Tom Jasper got some freight and clears for New Orleans to-morrow. All the upper streams are falling, and unless there are heavy rains before many days, navigation will soon close. Receipts of produce are light. Captain Davis, of the John Means, is in town. His boat is laid up at Cairo awaiting a rise in the Ohio. The New Anchor Line to New Orleans will not begin business before Spring. This is how the matter stands now.

—Capt. Jesse L. Dortch, the oldest steamboatman of Nashville, died on the 29th inst., in his seventy-seventh year. He began steamboating in 1824, as carpenter on the old three-chimneyed President. He built several Cumberland River steamboats, among these were the Sallie West, Scotland and Rocky City. For several years he had retired from business life, and remained at home with his family. His last active occupation was that of Wharfmaster at Nashville.

—The Mary Alice left New Orleans for St. Louis last Tuesday with two thousand sacks salt, 1,350 barrels sugar, 133 casks soda ash, 87 barrels S. crystals, 39 crates earthenware, 29 bales bagging. The St. John arrived at New Orleans the same day with 182 hogsheads new sugar, 257 bbls and 57 half do. new molasses.

—A Cairo dispatch under date of Friday says:—The work on Bacon Rock will be completed to-morrow, and there will then be 7 feet more water where it was than the guage calls for. Capt. R. W. Dugan goes home to Cincinnati in the morning by rail. The Babbage goes down to tow up the Bismarck, which has a broken shaft.

—The stern-wheel steamboat Shoo-fly, lying at Charleston, W. Va., took fire from some unknown cause, Thursday, and burned to the water's edge. Dr. J. P. Hale was her owner. The loss is estimated at from four thousand to five thousand dollars. No insurance.

—The corn crop of the Madrid bend region is reported to be so near a total failure that many planters of the vicinity will be compelled to purchase stock feed to run them through the winter. The same is the case with a large portion of the agricultural region of Western Tennessee.

—"All things are not lively with the New Orleans Anchor Line Company." So says the St. Louis Globe. And the Dispatch chimes in: "There is a sub rosa report quietly afloat that the proposed New Orleans Anchor Line is not yet a settled thing, and some dissatisfaction is breeding."

—A Memphis dispatch under date of Friday says: Considerable excitement exists in river circles here over the race between the river packets, Phil Allen and Illinois, in a race from Helena yesterday, in which the latter passed the former under way, seven miles above Helena, thus capturing the horns.

—The James Rees, Kanawha No. 2, Katydid, Charley McDonald, Waverly and Liberty No. 4 are laid up at Middleport, waiting and hoping for water. The J. S. Neel is on the docks there undergoing repairs.

—The Frank Pargoud left Delta on her last down trip with three thousand two hundred bales of cotton and four thousand four hundred sacks of cotton seed.

HOME NEWS.

Seriously Burned.

About half past eight o'clock yesterday morning, Mrs. Dippert, who resides on First street near James, Allegheny, was very seriously burned about the body and limbs, by her clothes catching fire from the fire place. Her sister, who assisted in extinguishing the flames, had her hands badly burned. Mrs. Dippert's injuries are very severe.

Market Expenditures.

At the meeting of the Market Committee on Saturday evening the pay rolls for the several markets were approved, as follows:

Diamond markets	$580 25
Fifth ward market	25 00
Fifth avenue market	98 71
South Side market	155 34

Recruits for Claremont.

The following parties were sentenced to the work house yesterday morning by the Acting Mayor, out of the forty-two cases that were before him for adjudication. Dave Goggins, Jeremiah Carroll and O. Smith, thirty days each. Goggins is suspected of having stolen a watch from a gentleman on Saturday night during a ball at Lafayette Hall. Nattie Jordan got six months and John McKinley sixty days.

Obituary.

Last evening Mr. W. H. Forsythe, of the firm of W. H. Forsythe & Bro., a well-known oil dealing firm of this city, died of typhoid fever, at his residence on Ridge avenue, Allegheny City. Mr. Forsythe had been sick about two weeks, but the news of his death will be generally unexpected, as such a result was not anticipated. It was only Saturday evening that Mr. Forsythe's brother arrived home from a sojourn of two years in Europe, but the pleasure of again getting back will be measurably lost in sorrow at the death of a brother. Mr. Forsythe was well known throughout both cities, his private and public character was without a stain, and this intelligence of his decease will occasion many regrets among those who knew him.

Small Fires.

The stable of Wm. Barker, on Squirrel Hill, in the Twenty-third ward, was burned down on Friday night, with all its contents including a cow, carriage, buck wagon, hay, harness, &c. Loss about $2,500, with an insurance of $1,550 in the Cash Company of this city.

The barn and dwelling of Alexander Greenlee, near College Hall, Alliance O., were destroyed by fire on Friday night. Loss $2,500.

On Saturday morning part of the second story and roof of the residence of John Glass, on Ridge avenue, Allegheny, was burned, entailing a loss of $200. The fire originated from a defective flue.

A slight fire occured on Saturday afternoon at No. 73 Logan street. But little damage was done.

On Saturday night there were two brief blazes. The first was the roof of Dennis McMullin's second hand furniture store, on Grant street, adjoining Drew's livery stable. The second was the burning of an empty charcoal shed on First avenue, next to the cork factory. The loss was trifling in both cases.

The alarm of fire yesterday afternoon was caused by the burning of the chimney of a dwelling on Arthur, near Centre street. No loss.

AN ATTACK UPON THE POLICE.

One of the Assailants Shot by an Officer.

Shortly before one o'clock yesterday morning, a crowd of about fifteen men were conducting themselves very boisterously on Main street, Allegheny, and were requested to be more quiet by saveral officers, but they would not do so. Finally officers Snyder and Berberick arrested one of them named Hartmuss, and had conducted him to Chestnut street, followed by his companions, who there began stoning the officers. One of the stones struck Hartmuss on the back, and others sailed in close proximity to the heads of the captors, and it soon became so bad that they had to pull their revolvers to save their lives. A shot was fired into the crowd, the ball striking a young man named Wenzel in the leg above the knee, which passed through the leg. The injured man was removed to Dr. Alcorn's office where his wound was dressed, after which he was removed to his home, No. 64 Main street. Another of the party, Ed. Wadsworth, was afterwards arrested. Both of the parties arrested were fined $5 and costs by Mayor Fleming yesterday morning.

A DELUSION AND A SNARE.

What Oldham Knows About Those Who Knocked Him Down.

Yesterday evening, shortly after seven o'clock, a man named Oldham came into the Mayor's office and said he had just been knocked down in Diamond alley, while on his way to church with his wife, and he also stated that he was toppled over in the same place by the same men on Saturday night. He alleged that he could point out the men, as they had not left the alley, and accordingly Detectives Wilmot and Messner went out with him, but on going to the spot no one was found. Indeed the street was almost entirely deserted, with the exception of one or two thirsty searchers after liquid refreshments. They returned to the office, when Oldham renewed his importunities, asserting that the men who had hit him were the same who had blown open the safe of the Jones Ferry Company early Saturday morning, and that he had seen them do it, which was the cause of their spite against him. Detectives Scott, Long and Pender silently arose from their seats, and with solemn and stately tread they strode to Diamond alley, and met with the same success that crowned the banners of Wilmot and Messner. After reaching the front office the whole force discussed the situation, and finally voted Oldham a delusion and a snare.

THE ITALIAN MINERS.

Trouble at the Armstrong Mines, Near Buena Vista—The Sheriff Called Upon for Assistance.

The citizens in the vicinity of the Armstrong mines, opposite Buena Vista, became somewhat alarmed at the state of affairs in that locality, on last Friday night, and called upon Sheriff Hare for protection, on Saturday. A large band of Italians has recently been imported to work in these coal works, and it is said that the strikers formed on the opposite side of the river and began shooting into the houses occupied by the foreigners on Friday night.

The committee who waited upon the Sheriff produced a number of balls which had been fired into a single house, and called for immediate action, to secure protection to life and property. Accordingly, the following message was sent to the Governor:

To His Excellency, John H. Hartranft, Governor of Pennsylvania:

In consequence of the serious trouble existing at Armstrong's coal mines, in Westmoreland county, the miners from those mines being in the habit of firing across the river, endangering the lives of the citizens of this county, I ask such protection as you may deem necessary under the laws of the Commonwealth.

JOHN HARE,
Sheriff of Allegheny County.

There has been no reply received, as yet, from Gov. Hartranft.

The Sheriff of Westmoreland county has also been appealed to for aid, as the citizens have become alarmed, as to the belligerent aspect of the opposing parties. From present indications, it is feared that serious results may follow.

Col. Bayne, a brave soldier and a sound Republican; or Cochran, the stay-at-home, and a Democrat. Which of these two shall represent you in Congress?

AN ALLEGHENY HORROR.

Incendiarism and Death—A House Robbed and Then Set on Fire—Narrow Escape of the Family—A Domestic Smothered to Death—How Her Escape was Cut Off—The Origin of the Fire—The Act of Fiendish Depredators.

A few minutes before three o'clock yesterday morning the people residing in the vicinity of the corner of Pearl and Federal streets, Allegheny, were aroused suddenly from their slumbers and greatly alarmed by hearing shrill screams of "Fire!" The scream was evidently that of a female voice, but in a moment or two it was succeeded by the hoarser voices of men and by a rattling and pounding, as though a door was being broken through. By this time the whole neighborhood was aroused, and the people generally turned out, and went in the direction of the sounds. They came from the residence of Jacob Fell, residing at No 224 Federal street, a few doors below Pearl, and a glance at the house developed the fact that a fire was raging within. An alarm was struck to call out the Fire Department, and the people set to work at once to rescue any persons that might be in the house. In this effort they were aided by Mr. Fell himself who appeared at the second story front room window and tossed out some bedding, after which he lowered his wife to the ground by means of a rope, and then came out by the same means himself. Just at this moment his youngest son, Joseph Fell, about eighteen years of age, burst open the parlor window shutters on the ground floor, and the oldest son, Solomon, came from the rear of the house. This left only the domestic in the house, and the most vigorous efforts were at once put forth to rescue her from the third story.

In the meantime

was told by Mr. Fell, who said that he and his wife occupied the front room, second floor, the two sons were on the same floor in the next room to the rear, and the servant, Margaret Lynch was in her room on the third floor, just above the boys room. Mr. Fell said he was first aroused by screams of fire coming from Margaret, and opening the door of his room, leading into the hall, he was met with a volume of smoke and saw the flame,—the stairway being on fire. He at once called to Margaret and told her to go into the front room on the third floor, shut the door leading into the hall, and he would rescue her as soon as he could get out and secure a ladder.

He then closed his door and running to the front window, raised the alarm and affected the escape of himself and wife, after having given an alarm to the boys. None of them could come down the stairway without going through flame, for the stairs seemed to be on fire from the cellar to the roof.

THE DOMESTIC MISSING.

In making their escape the boys came out into the hallway, and the youngest started through the fire and made his way down stairs, and out at the parlor window through the flame and smoke. He was considerably burned, and it is feared inhaled the flames. The other, Solomon, retreated, and going back into his room jumped from the second story window into the back yard, happily escaping without bruises, although the distance was fully twenty-five feet.

In the meantime the firemen had arrived, and the engines commenced to play on the buildings, from the windows of which smoke and flames now issued. It was supposed that the servant had also escaped by jumping out, as she did not make her appearance at the front window. Search, however, was made for her, but in the excitement so many conflicting stories were told, that it cohld not be ascertained whether she was out or not.

The firemen in the meantime put all their engines to subduing the flames, and in a short time had them so under control that it was possible to enter the house. They then entered, Messrs. John Hunter and Frank Murphy, of the Friendship, leading the way.

THE VICTIM.

They proceeded first to the room of the domestic, in the rear of the third story, and were horrified to find her lying insensible in her night clothing at the foot of her bed. She still gave some evidences of life however, and they carried her into the house next door. In response to a summons, Drs. Mowry and Smith came promptly, but before they reached the house she had expired,—her death occurring a few minutes after she was carried from her room. She gave no evidence of having been burned, but had evidently been smothered with the smoke and heat. It was thought she had gone into the front room, as some of her clothing had been taken from her trunk and tossed in there. Coming back to get some more, it is supposed she fainted, and so fell a victim. This theory is supported by the fact that nothing in her room was burned—the head being only slightly browned from the heat.

Joseph Fell, the youngest son, also narrowly escaped being a victim. As he ran down stairs he fell, but quickly picked himself up and made his way through the flame and smoke to the front door. This was fastened, and he then ran back and jumped out of a parlor window. He was terribly burned about the head and hands and inhaled some of the fire. Dr. Cole is now attending him.

During the excitement of the fire, Mrs. Fell lost $1,000) in money from her pocket, which she had placed there before leaving the house.

LIMITS OF THE FIRE.

The fire seemed to be confined to the halls and cellar, and burned with such fierceness that it was supposed some of the woodwork was saturated with oil. The prompt arrival of the firemen prevented the complete destruction of the house, and a serious conflagration, for had it gained a few moments further headway, it would have broken through the roof, and the loss of property would then have been much greater.

SUSPECTED ROBBERY AND INCENDIARISM.

The exact origin of the fire is unknown, but it is believed to have been the work of incendiaries, who first robbed and then set fire to the house. When the family retired shortly before midnight, all the doors were locked, and there was no fire whatever. At the time Solomon Fell leaped from the rear window, he found the kitchen door standing wide open, and as soon as he could enter the house he found that a drawer had been forced open in a side-board, and all the silverware except a soup ladle stolen. When the family had retired the table had been cleared off, but he found that some person had placed two plates on the table and had eaten of some cold meat and pie, pieces of which still remained on the dishes. A screw driver which did not belong to the family was also found there. From these facts it is supposed that the house was first entered by burglars and robbed.

WHERE IT WAS SET ON FIRE.

Then they placed fire in the cellar, directly under the only stairway in the house, so that the stairs would first burn down. Then the side-board, in which had been the silverware, which was on the opposite side of the room from the door opening into the hall, was set on fire inside. The reason for believing this was done, is because only the inside of the side-board is badly burned, and between it and the hall, a distance of at least twelve feet, nothing whatever was burned, nor hardly scorched, therefore it could not have caught from the fire in the hallway.

It is most generally believed from the above circumstances, that some person or persons, who are enemies of Mr. Fell, entered through the rear door, robbed the house, and then deliberately set the house on fire in such a way as to prevert the escape of the inmates, and if possible burn them all to death.

THE INQUEST.

Yesterday morning Coroner McCallin held an inquest on the body of the servant girl, Margaret Lynch. She was 32 years of age, and had lived with Mr. Fell's family for eight years and three months. The verdict was death from suffocation. She has two brothers residing in Uniontown, who have been telegraphed for. The body has been taken charge of by Fairman & Co., undertakers.

THE PECUNIARY LOSS.

The loss by the fire will not exceed $1,000 both on the house and furniture, which is fully covered by insurance in both cases. The house belongs to Mayor Fleming. If the above theory of the disaster is the correct one, which is believed by many, it was one of the most dastardly and fiendish outrages ever attempted in this vicinity.

THE PIPE LINE CASE.

The Case Argued in the District Court.

Last Saturday, the Equity case of the Columbia Conduit Company against the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, was argued in the District Court, the former being represented by Messrs. Woods, Barton and Marshall, while Mr. Hampton appeared for the respondents. In reply to the petition, the defendants claim that the Columbia Company is not a public corporation, and not having the right of eminent domain, cannot cross the track. It is also claimed that the Railroad Company and not the Conduit Company own the land at the Power's crossing, that it was included in the property transferred by the State to the Railroad Company. The Railroad Company also claim that the question at issue being one of title and not of equity, the Conduit Company should bring suit in ejectment, and cannot recover possession of it by equity proceedings. As proof that Kirkwood, from whom the Conduit Company obtained the property, had not a clear title to the same, the respondents allege that at the time the property was first taken for the canal, Jessup, then the owner, and who deeded the land to Kirkwood, did not claim any damages, but some time afterwards did put in a bill of damages. The matter was referred to the Board of Canal Commissioners, who decided that he was not entitled to any damages. Affidavits were also read to show that the canal crossed the run at exactly the same place that the railroad now crosses it; that at the time of the transfer and before the canal held possession of the property in the neighborhood of the crossing, it made some improvements on it, and actually transferred it to the Railroad Company.

The Court reserved its decision.

Col. Bayne and a Protective Tariff, or Cochran, a Tree Trader, will be elected to Congress to-morrow. Republicans, it is for you to say which.

Dr. Gale French,
DENTIST,

Bayne or Cochran, Which!

Republicans, decide between the two to-morrow.

Republicans, vote for Bayne, the regular nominee of the Party.

THE COURTS.

AN ARGUMENT ON A CASE OF ALLEGED HABITUAL DRUNKENNESS.

Anna Buettner, by her committee, D. L. Smith, appellant and plaintiff below, vs. John T. Buettner, appellee and defendant below. Certiorari to the District Court of Allegheny county. Argued by Glenn for appellant, and Bryant contra. The parties were married in 1866, and divorced in 1872. At the time of the marriage Mrs. Buettner was the owner in fee simple of the property in dispute, and in 1871 conveyed it to her husband. The property was real estate on Pike street, Allegheny. At the time of the conveyance the property was worth $5,000. In 1870, it is represented that Mrs. Buettner became addicted to the use of liquor, and in 1872 a commission was appointed to take testimony and ascertain whether or not she was an habitual drunkard. The committee found that she was an habitual drunkard before, and at the time of making the conveyance, and the Court approved the report. The plaintiff in error claims that the wife was driven to drink by the constant abuse of her husband. It is also claimed that she expressed herself at one time as desirous of conveying the property to her husband, as he had threatened to do and because she wanted to live peaceably with him. While she was in the Allegheny lock-up in January 1871, having been arrested for drunkenness, she attemped to hang herself, giving as a reason that her husband wanted to get the property, and had driven her to attempt self-destruction. It is claimed by the plaintiff in error that Mrs. Buettner supposed, when signing the deed, she would have the one-third interest in the property for life, and that her husband could not convey it without her signature. When she found that this was a mistake, that the deed in fee simple was a general warantee, she came to the Attorney who had made out the deed, crying and saying that she had been compelled by her husband to sign it. The matter was referred to a master, who reported that the wife had executed the deed voluntarily. In his supplemental report, the master found that the property was worth $1,200 when the parties were married, and $5,000 when the conveyance was made. Of the improvements, the wife was shown to have furnished $2,400, and the husband $1,400. The defendant, however, claimed that the husband furnished all the improvements with the exceptions of $700 gotten from his wife. The plaintiff in error appeals from so much of the decree as directs Mrs. Buettner, by herself or committee, to pay the defendant $1,400 within one year, and eighteen twenty-fifths of the loses. Her committee avers that the Court erred in not decreeing a reconveyance of the property to her committee for her use, and that the defendant account to Mrs. Buettner or her committee for her, for the rents and benefits thereof from the 11th day of February, 1871, and that he give the immediate possession of the property to Mrs. Buettner and pay the costs of the suit.

Court adjourned for consultation at the conclusion of the hearing of this case.

All was quiet then for about an hour, when the bell again set up a wail that continued for fifteen minutes, and a second examination revealed no cause for its strange conduct. Its reputation heretofore has been that of a staid, dutiful, sober-mindel bell, above reproach, but these vagaries have damaged its reputation considerably.

BURSTING A SAFE.

Secretary Duff Didn't Give Up the Key, but the Committee Broke Open the Safe.

In our issue of Saturday morning we referred to the fact that Mr. John T. Duff, by advice of Counsel, refused to give to a sub-committee of the Water Committee the key and combination of the safe containing the papers connected with the Water Extension, in order that it might be examined. After the committee had been refused by Mr. Duff, the members of it went to the Mayor, and at their request he detailed Officer Morrwo, who remained on guard in the committee room during the whole of Friday night. On Saturday morning he was relieved by Officer Chisholm, who remained in the committee room until the safe was subsequently bursted. In order that the safe could not be opened without detection a postage stamp was pasted over the combination, and on it was inscribed the initials, "W. W. T., Oct. 30, '74, T. S. M." Between five and six o'clock on Saturday evening, it seems, the committee arrived at the conclusion to inspect the contents of the safe at all hazards, no matter if Mr. Duff wouldn't supply them with the key and combination. Securing the services of Mr. Woolley, an expert connected with Hall's Safe and Lock Company, they went to the room where the safe is, and with the use of tools bursted it open. The gentlemen present at the time were Messrs. Mitchell, Thompson, Cunningham, Milligan and Jacob F. Slagle. They then took an inventory of the contents of the safe. Among the stuff with which it is filled was found the $16,000 in bonds, which Mr. Cunningham says he discovered in April last, and which Mr. Milligan asserts have only been unearthed recently. The bonds were of the denomination of $500 and $100, there being thirty of the former and ten of the latter. No other bonds of any kind or description were found, but whether Mr. Duff knows of the existence of others, is more than can be said. All of the bonds were signed by the Controller, and three of them bore the signature of the Mayor. They are all of the issue of 1871. After the safe had been thoroughly examined, it was fixed up again and locked with a new combination which was given to Mr. Mitchell.

WORKINGMEN'S MEETING.

The Bone and Sinew of the Ninth Ward, Allegheny, Up in Arms and Eager for the Fray—Enthusiastic Endorsement of Colonel Bayne and the Whole Republican Ticket.

A large and enthusiastic Republican meeting was held in Gerst's Hall, at Woods Run, on Saturday evening. The room was filled to overflowing, many being unable to get inside. This district is almost wholly composed of mill hands and other intelligent workingmen, who are deeply interested in the success of the principles of the Republican party, and who look upon third party men as accessories to the Democracy, aiding and abetting their success.

The meeting was organized by calling Mr. W. Woolsey to the chair, and naming the following Vice Presidents: Messrs. D. Oliver, O. J. Hamilton, Chas. Phillips, W. G. Lubbs, Gen. Blakely, W. R. Canhau, Charles Hartman, Mr. Edwards and Mr. Claney.

Messrs. Miller, Reese and Bogelon were chosen Secretaries.

Col. Tomas M. Bayne was the first speaker, and he reviewed the policies of the two parties in a masterly manner. He was followed by Gen. A. L. Pearson in his peculiar style, who entertained the large audience with argument and anecdote, frequently causing outbursts of laughter and applause. Mr. Henry M. Long followed in a speech devoted mainly to a contrast between the financial panic of 1857 and that of the present. In the former puddlers received but $3.50 per ton, while now the pay is $6.00. Instead of orders on stores, where the men were subjected to a heavy discount, they now receive money for their work, and good money at that—not wildcat notes, which could only be exchanged for goods at a ruinous share. Panics like these were not the result of the policies of political parties, although Democratic Free Tradeism tended to such an end inevitably. The present troubles were brought upon us by overtrading, and too much indebtedness throughout the whole country. The Republican party could not be held responsible for the dullness at present prevailing. It was the inevitable result of natural causes, wholly outside of political reach, and brought about by improprieties in business matters, and an utter disregard of sound financial and commercial rules.

The Democratic organs in New York, Chicago, St. Louis and Cincinnati, as well as elsewhere, do not deny that free trade, or what is almost as bad for Pennsylvania's interest—a revenue tariff, is the policy of that party. A sound protective tariff is the policy of Republicans. This being so the issue must soon become an open one,—a national one—and it must be met in advance by electing none but good Republicans to Congress. Mr. Cochran, the Democratic candidate for Congress, claims to be in favor of the tariff, but he cannot disconnect himself from the national policy of his party and yet remain a Democrat. Then why take the risk of placing him in office when a pronounced tariff Republican like Col. Bayne can be had?

Mr. Long closed by asking all Republicans to stand by the ticket, and rebuke the Democracy, who are trying to steal the livery of Republicanism to serve the tree trade devil in.

J. P. Fleming, Esq., and others addressed the meeting in an eloquent and intelligent manner, convincing their hearers that their duty to themselves, their interests as well as their country, was to come up solidly to the support of the whole Republican ticket.

The meeting then adjourned with three rousing cheers for the whole ticket.

THE BILLIARD TOURNAMENT.

The Knights of the Cue at the Fifth Avenue Theater—Opening of the Entertainment This Evening—Vignaux and Ubassy.

This evening the billiard tournament, for which such ample preparations have been made, will commence at the Fifth avenue theater. This enterprise is almost wholly under the supervision of Harry Warren, who got it up and intends that it shall be a success if money and energy will go toward accomplishing that object. Singular though the statement may seem, the proprietors of many of the leading billiard halls in Pittsburgh have taken but little interest in this tournament and have not extended that assistance which one would suppose ought to be liberally bestowed by those most concerned in advancing the public interest in the harmless and beneficial art of billiard playing. The theater in which the tournament is to be held, has been neatly fixed up for the occasion and the accommodations for the public are ample. The reserved seats for ladies and their escorts are on the stage and so arranged that all can see the playing. Immediately in front of the stage and in the orchestra circle is the billiard table, one of the best of Griffith's manufacture and containing Delaney's wire cushion. The balance of the space in the orchestra circle is filled with chairs. The parquette circle will not be thrown open to the public only on the first night. Mr. Warren has been assisted in making his preparations by Mr. Jos. Horn and R. E. Breveille, of Philadelphia. The two most noted billiard players who will be present this evening are Vignaux and Ubassy, both Frenchmen, as their names indicate. They would doubtless have been here by this time were it not for the fact that a billiard tournament is now in progress in New York city, and it has attracted all the great players of the country. However, they are coming in gradually, some having arrived on Saturday, and yesterday a large delegation got in from Cleveland. Vignaux acknowledges no equal in the world in the very difficult art of billiard playing. His shots are said to be wonderful, and his command of the balls astonishing. Of his personal peculiarities the writer is unable to speak, because of the very good reason that his optics have never rested on the gentleman. However, it is said he has very sound and solid understanding, his pedal extremities fitting very neatly in number nine or ten boots. He has been in America about two months.

Francois Ubassy has lived in this country some two years, and though not so good a player as Vignaux, he is nevertheless not to be discounted to any great extent. The entertainment will open this evening with a game of two hundred and fifty points, between Vignaux and Ubassy, after which the remainder of the time will be occupied in displays of skill and dexterity. There will be no betting at all, we are assured, connected with the tournament, and owing to the rigid rules that have been adopted the society will be of such a character that no lady or gentleman will be obliged to come in contact with people whom they would not like to associate with. The following parties have entered their names as contestants for the prizes that are offered: Ed. Nelms, Philadelphia; Victor Estephe, Philadelphia; W. Rockhill, Philadelphia; H. Grundier, Philadelphia; Chris Bird, Philadelphia; Capt. A. J. Pierson, Erie; W. Poulson, Harrisburg; W. Cline, Lancaster; T. Brant, Scranton; R. Silversmith, Sharon; W. Dodds, Pittsburgh; T. Davis, Pittsburgh; T. Mackey, Pittsburgh; J. Nelson, Pittsburgh; Eb. Lowe, Pittsburgh; W. O'Donnell, Pittsburgh; Dan. McIntire Pittsburgh; J. K. Jacobs, Pittsburgh; and others.

How Thomas M. Bayne Behaved as District Attorney.

Messrs. Editors:

A couple of years ago the Legislature of Pennsylvania, "in its profound wisdom," rushed through an act which makes it a criminal offense for one to sell his property or for one to buy any property, whenever that property consists of something in the shape of a railroad ticket.

Later, the Pennsylvania Railroad—praised be the illustrious name—not being altogether satisfied with the manner in which I ran my European Steamship and Immigration Agency, had that law enforced against me. I was arrested, tried, convicted and fined in the Criminal Court. And for what? Why for trying to save a couple of dollars to a poor immigrant or to a traveler of limited means. And it will be remembered that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company at the same time I was prosecuted did the same thing in a fight with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company. All this was known to Bayne. Yet in the true bill found by the Grand Jury—that glorious institution of American liberty—signed by Thos. M. Bayne, District Attorney for Allegheny county, he protests that I, with "force and arms" (mind you), and "against the peace and dignity of the Commonwealth" (mark you), did steal, forge, bribe and murder? Oh, no! no such thing! He protests that a railroad ticket was sold by me for two dollars less than the Pennsylvania Railroad (passes excepted) would have sold it for. Through the extreme leniency of the Court I was fined but five hundred dollars. Judge Sterrett, who passed the sentence, remarked that I might be glad to get off without imprisonment, which, however, would be added should the "crime" be repeated. Now, this is all correct, you will say, dear reader, for Col. Bayne's sworn duty it was to enforce the law, however unjust the same may be. Precisely. But wait. Have patience and I will tell you. At the very time, other parties were also arraigned for the same crime. They plead guilty, but have never been sentenced. They have died, gone out of business, left the city, &c., the reader will likely suggest. Not so. They can be reached just as easy as I was.

If you doubt my statement, please walk to the Clerk's office of the Court of Quarter Sessions. There in the docket of March Term, 1873, you will find three cases against different parties open, while mine has been closed with five hundred dollars fine! But why are they not sentenced? I will give the replies of prominent members of the bar. One said to me: "Max, you received that heavy sentence for being a Jew!" It is wonderful how the District Attorney found out my creed, and I do but regret I do not know his, except that I have a recollection that once he wrote against Catholicism, and at another time against foreigners.

But another person, who likely knows Tom. better, claims that those three cases have been "settled and done" between him and the parties interested.

Now, I ask, did Col. Bayne act fair? Was he honest in this matter? Should a law—be it just or unjust—not be enforced equally against all—irrespective of nationality or creed—if enforced at all? I ask the people of the Twenty-third Congressional District to decide next Tuesday whether such behavior entitles a man to a seat in Congress.

Good-humoredly, yours,
MAX SCHAMBERG.

COL. BAYNE'S REPLY.

He Denies the Charge—The District Attorney's Office Not a Political Office.

"The first count in the charge amounts to nothing. It was Mr. Bayne's duty to prosecute Mr. Shamberg for violating the law, and he had no right to consider whether the law was good or bad. The second count, however, is a grave one, and it devolves on Mr. Bayne to explain it. He has no right to make discriminations in his prosecutions under the law, and we hope and believe he can make it appear he has not done so. In this case we think he should depart from the good rule which declares that political candidates should keep personally silent about the mass of charges that are made against them. This is not a political charge, but one against his integrity as a public officer, and should be met promptly and boldly."

I agree with you in saying that the charge "should be met promptly and boldly," and I propose to meet it now by a true statement of the facts, and soon hereafter by means best known to the law.

At March sessions, 1873, twelve indictments were found by the grand-jury for misdemeanor under a law forbidding dealing in railroad tickets. One of these was against James Hazlewood; the second against Israel DeRoy; the third and fourth against Abraham DeRoy; the fifth and sixth against Emanuel DeRoy; the seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth against Max Shamberg; and the eleventh and twelfth against Abram Weiler. All the parties pleaded nolo contendere, excepting Israel DeRoy, who was tried and acquitted, and Emanuel DeRoy, who was tried and convicted upon one of the indictments, he having pleaded nolo contendere to the other.

At the time the pleas were entered the court allowed counsel for defendants to make a motion for a new trial in each case, by which the constitutionality of the law should be raised. November 21, 1872, the motions were argued and refused.

December 13, 1873, Emanuel DeRoy was sentenced to pay a fine of one hundred dollars and costs in each of the two cases against him; Abram DeRoy was sentenced to a like penalty in each of the two cases against him; and Max Schamberg was similarly sentenced in each of the four cases against him.

This leaves one case against James Hazlewood and two against Abram Welier to account for.

Messrs. Hampton and Dalzell claimed that the De Roys and Schamberg had persistently and habitually violated this law, and particularly Schamberg, who had had some connection with the sale of tickets for the Pennsylvania railroad as its agent, and had abused the confidence placed in him. They therefore moved the Court for the sentence of these parties.

Almost absolutely otherwise was it with Mr. Hazlewood and Mr. Weiler. Mr. Hazlewood was a drover, doing business at East Liberty, and he had sold but one ticket, which made him technically liable, and pleaded ignorance of the law, which the counsel for the Commonwealth believed.

Mr. Weiler's situation was very similar to Mr. H.'s in essentials. Mr. Weiler kept a billiard-room in Pittsburgh, and had sold but two tickets, and pleaded ignorance of the law, and the counsel for the commonwealth believed he had not intentionally offended.

Messrs. Hampton & Dalzell, in view of the facts, recommended that Hazlewood and Weiler should not be sentenced, but should go, on payment of the costs, and never call these cases up for sentence, which they could have done at any time.

The motives of Messrs. Hampton & Dalzell were commendable in my judgment, their object being to punish those who had knowingly violated the law, but not those who were technically guilty but intentionally innocent.

This is a plain, true statement of the facts. As to the intimation made by Schamberg that I "settled" these cases, it is a wanton, malicious lie, put forth on the eve of an election to injure my good name, which I prize above all other things. He shall very soon have an opportunity to defend his malice, and I shall take no advantage of the rule which shuts out the truth.

And, as to his intimation that I pursued an improper course because he was a Jew, it is a base attempt to prejudice me with a people whose sobriety of conduct in the walks of life has my respect.

THOS. M. BAYNE.

We have read the above statement and indorse its recital of facts as true in every particular. Save as necessarily appearing in his capacity of an officer of the Commonwealth, Col. Bayne has had no connection with the cases in question. They were tried by, and all subsequent proceedings were had at the instance of, the attorneys for the railroad company.

Solicitors P. R. R. Co.

MR. BAYNE'S BEHAVIOR AS DISTRICT ATTORNEY.

Is He Guilty of the Charge?

Schamberg's Reply.

EDITORS GAZETTE:—I noticed in Saturday's Leader an attempt of Mr. Bayne to reply to my letter, which appeared in the various journals of Pittsburgh.

To speak with Schiller I ask, "Was is der langen Worte kurzer sinn?" In English, "What is the short sense of so many long words?"

Does he not virtually plead guilty of the facts charged against him, and is not his whole letter full of equivocation?

In the consciousness of his weakness he takes refuge to two other lawyers, who are with him in the same building, and who have been with him on partnership terms in that "fine piece of business," which I shall continue to announce to the whole civilized world. Does the reader not agree with me when I say a lawyer's cause must be very weak when he seeks the protection of another lawyer? Did anybody ever hear of one attorney or "solicitor" going back on another, when it comes to a vital point?

This disposes of any credit that might otherwise be attached to the "solicitor's certificate" of the "high moral character" of Tom.

Next, we find an advertisement of the avocations of the persons, defendants in the cases, which have not been called up for sentence by the charitable District Attorney. Mr. A. is a drover; Mr. B. is a billiard-player and Mr. Schneider is a—German.

Even pawnbrokers are kindly remembered, but as regards me, Tom has not a word of or for my business; but they all plead "ignorance of the law." Did they? Now, this is a base falsehood. The plea nolo contendere," which is the same as "guilty," was made in all the eleven cases by all the defendants, and the learned District Attorney well knows that the law does not excuse ignorance.

But Messrs. Hampton & Dalzell recommended so and so. Now, I have long known that the Legislature and Courts are run to a great extent by the railroads and their lawyers, but it is startling news to me, and certainly will be to the whole community, that these gentlemen are the Judges of the Criminal Court of Allegheny county. But if they are, and it matters not who are, it was, and it is the duty of Mr. Bayne to call up these cases for sentence, or to obtain the permission of court to enter a nolle prosequi. Has this been done? Have any costs in those three cases ever gone to the county treasury, to which I had to pay $500? Answer if you can.

Messrs. H. and D. recommended that H. and W. should go, on payment of costs! Payment of costs to whom? Answer if you can.

One thing more, and I have done with Mr. Bayne. He need not speak of malice, or can he, perhaps, explain his connection with that telegraphic message to Governor Hartranft, whose executive clemency I had petitioned for, and which reads as follows: "I think Mr. Schamberg's fine should not be remitted." And as to the "Jew business," which I do but refer to with mortification, I have but one question. Is it not wonderful that Israelites only were sentenced, while the only defendant of another persuasion was allowed to go free, and while at least a dozen of agents in Pittsburgh of other than Israelitish denomination, are to-day selling more coupon tickets in one single day than I did in my whole life.

MAX SCHAMBERG.

AMUSEMENTS.

Pittsburgh Opera House.

During the whole of last week Miss Jane Coombs played to big houses, and she will no doubt be fully as great an attraction this week, as Blanche De Chelles in "The Sphinx," another of the not remarkably moral dramas of Octave Feuillet. However it has proved an immense card in Philadelphia, New York, Boston and elsewhere, and it would not be unsafe to predict that it will meet with public favor here. Miss Coombs is so good an actress, and such an exceptional favorite in Pittsburgh, that the people will go to hear her, no matter in what character she appears. "The Sphinx" will be produced this evening for the first time, and continued until further notice.

Library Hall.

The Mercantile Library course will be opened to-morrow evening by J. R. Thomas' Concert Company, one of the finest musical combinations now traveling. Mr. Thomas himself is a well-known composer and a famous baritone singer. He will be remembered as having been here last winter with the Camilla Urso troupe. The company includes Madam Dowland, an English lady who has quite a reputation in the East, and also Miss Sarah Barron and Geo. W. Colfy. This entertainment will be one of the best of the season, and knowing the popularity of the Library course, we doubt not but that it will be well attended.

PRETTY BADLY CUT.

Serious Sunday Night Amusement.

Last evening, shortly before nine o'clock, officers Keefer and Bergley arrested John Hauch for drunkenness and disorderly conduct at his father's residence, at the corner of Second avenue and Grant street. It seems that John was in the house, where his friends wished to keep him, but he was determined to get out, and in order to accomplished his object he commenced breaking the windows, but in the operation he cut his left arm fearfuly, there being a terrible gash across the fore-arm and several ugly wounds on his hand. He bled profusely, and must have lost fully half a gallon of the life current. After he was lodged in the station house, Dr. McCoy, the City Physician, was sent for to dress his wounds, but Hauch for a while refused to let the Doctor touch him. He finally succumbed, however, and the worst cut was sewed up, the others being closed with adhesive plaster. The loss of blood made him very sick and quite weak afterward.

Republicans, vote for Bayne, the regular nominee of the Party.

No Nonsense.

There is so much of promise and so little of performance among men generally that confidence is therefore recognized as a plant of but small growth. There are some things, however, so abundant in performance as to admit of neither doubt or question. About such things there is no nonsense, and chief among these is the grand Gift Concert of the Public Library of Kentucky, which comes off November 30. Indeed there can be no nonsense about this. Governor Bramlette announces it certainly for the day named. The gifts are all cash, and there are 20,000 of them, and $2,500,000 to be divided out.

Col. Bayne and a Protective Tariff, or Cochran, a Free Trader, will be elected to Congress to-morrow. Republicans, it is for you to say which.

Sewing Machine Sales.

THE WHEELER & WILSON COMPANY denies the existence of any sworn returns showing larger sales of sewing machines in 1873 than by that Company. D. & S.
